

Fire Destroys Farm House

Bucket Brigade Battles Flames

Lawrence Gregg
Routed from Home

A four-room farm house located one mile north of Good Hope burned for four hours Wednesday night before scores of volunteers could subdue flames whipped by a biting-cold wind.

By 10:30 P. M. flames had destroyed two of the four rooms of the residence of Lawrence Gregg, owner and sole occupant of the tar-shingle house on the Good Hope Road. The rest of the house was razed to the foundation as owner Gregg stood by and helped to carry his few belongings to safety.

The fire was discovered about 6:30 P. M. when Richard Sexton was driving by the Gregg residence and noticed flames licking at the edge of the chimney flue. Close behind him was Mrs. Doris Jones in another car.

Both stopped and dashed into the house to find Gregg sitting in his small bedroom unaware of the fire on the roof just above the room.

Calls from a phone at the Gregg home to both the Washington C. H. and Greenfield fire departments failed to bring any help because the house is located outside (Please turn to Page Twenty)

How much does a flash bulb in a newspaper camera throw out?

Some idea came Wednesday night, when a Record-Herald photographer went out to cover the Gregg fire near Good Hope.

A resident of Good Hope, which is about a mile away from the fire, said he was attracted by "lights shooting up in the sky" and went out to investigate. The flames from the fire even in pitch black night didn't throw out sufficient light to attract him.

While the bulbs were popping at the scene of the fire, many spectators jumped from fear that electric light wires were being shorted.

Some of the nearby farmers who came to the fire said they thought the reflection of the flash bulbs against the sky looked like lightning.

Motorists traveling along the 900 block on Dayton Avenue one night this week began to wonder if flying saucers were discharging men from Mars.

Pedestrians and motorists were given a thrill and they paused to see what was happening. A huge canvas suddenly billowed out, rose to roof tops and moved about in a peculiar way.

Investigation disclosed that Albert G. Cobb, who resides at 938 Dayton Avenue, had decided to take his war parachute out for some exercise in the brisk wind that was blowing.

When he and a companion, Kenneth Campbell, also a Millwood resident, unfolded the Jap parachute with its 60' foot spread, they had quite a time controlling it. The chute caused a lot of excitement in the neighborhood.

Cobb, associate county agricultural extension agent, was in service with the U. S. artillery and he spent some time in Japan in the recent war. He was able to obtain one of the large Japanese silk parachutes, and he proudly brought it home. This was the first time recently he has had it out, and he came near causing a sensation.

Bodies of Parents and Child Are Found in House by Firemen

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., April 13—(AP)—A couple and their 10-year-old daughter were found brutally beaten and stabbed to death in their burning home early today.

Firemen stumbled into the gory setting when they answered an alarm that the house of William A. Blanks was on fire.

The couple's son, 18-year-old William Blanks, Jr., was picked

Himmelsbach Named Rotary President

William Himmelsbach is to be the new president of the Washington C. H. Rotary Club.

Holding membership in the club under the classification of photographer, Himmelsbach was elected to the top office by the recently elected board of directors when it held its organization meeting following a dinner at Anderson's Drive-In Restaurant Wednesday night.

Ed Moser was named the new vice president; J. Earl Gidding the treasurer; Dr. Stewart B. Smith the secretary; Wendell Briggs the assistant secretary; Stephen Brown editor of the Ginger Snap, the club's weekly paper and Marilyn Riley the sergeant-at-arms.

All of the new officers will be installed formally at the first meeting in July.

Riley and Brown are the new members of the board. The retiring members of the board are Webster French, Ed Porter, Paul Pennington, the retiring president, automatically becomes a member of the board next year.

Missing Man's Skeleton Found After 27 Years

HAMILTON, April 13—(AP)—Emil Sprauer, local locksmith, said today the skeleton found in a nearby woods last week might be that of William Jobe, his brother-in-law.

Jobe disappeared in 1923 after running up a series of gambling debts in southern Ohio and northern Kentucky, Sprauer told the authorities.

up by police two hours later and rushed to a hospital, where he was admitted immediately to surgery with undetermined wounds. Police would not say where they found him nor what type of wounds he had sustained.

The inside of the box-like house was a shambles.

Police Chief Hercl R. Gartin said he couldn't tell as yet just how the three were killed, or why, or the reason the house was blazing in some parts.

"We don't know a whole lot about this. We're waiting to see what we can find around the outside," he said.

The body of the girl was sprawled face up, night gown above her knees, on her smoldering bed in the front upstairs room.

Blanks, 40, and his wife, Mildred, were found in the rear bedroom. Mrs. Blanks was on the bed, face down, and Blanks was on the floor near the bed. He lay stretched on his left side, as if he had attempted to escape the killer.

Police found a 16-inch blood-smeared kitchen knife and a ball-pen hammer in the house.

Cecil Kessick of the homicide squad said he counted "15 or 16 stab wounds" on Mrs. Blanks' back, and that her head had been crushed.

In the kitchen lay the family's pet dog, a Spitz. The animal's skull had been split open, and his fur showed indications of knife wounds.

The flames were discovered by a passerby, who tried to rouse the family. When he couldn't, he sounded an alarm.

"Unbelievable" is the word County Engineer Charles Ferguson used to describe the junk, garbage and trash lying in ditches along Fayette County roads.

After a tour of the county road system this week, Ferguson reported that there is a deluge of waste paper, tin cans, garbage and junk lying in the ditches where people have inconsiderately and illegally dumped it.

This refuse, he explained, must be picked up before county road

Hope Is Raised For Plane Lost After Red Shots

Wreckage Reported
Seen in Baltic Sea
Near Trouble Zone

COPENHAGEN, April 13—(AP)—A new report of possible plane wreckage in the Baltic sent U. S. search craft off the Swedish Island of Oeland today in their hunt for a navy patrol plane missing since Saturday with 10 men aboard.

The first officer aboard the German steamer Juno said he saw what looked like an airplane cabin floating in the Baltic at the southern tip of Oeland, which lies off the coast of Sweden across the Baltic from Latvia.

U. S. officials in charge of the search at Copenhagen said one plane was already over the area. Others were directed to concentrate their efforts there.

Russian Admission

The new clue coincided with the first hint from the Russians that they consider the missing navy plane with 10 men aboard to be the same one fired at by Soviet fighter planes Saturday when Moscow claimed a U. S. B-29 type plane flew over Latvia. Moscow said that incident occurred in the neighborhood of Lepaya. Oeland Island is due west of Lepaya, across the Baltic.

American authorities have expressed the fear that Soviet fire caused the navy plane to crash into the Baltic.

The official Communist party newspaper Pravda declared the missing navy plane "violated the Soviet frontier" and engaged in attempted espionage over Russian territory.

The German ship which reported sighting the debris off Oeland had no radio and its report was delayed until it made port this morning at Oernskoeldsvik in northern Sweden.

Hope Is Raised

The report stirred new hope in U. S. Air Force headquarters at Wiesbaden, where gloom had been felt at chances of finding any of the plane's survivors. Officers had given up their attempts to find what had been described yesterday as a life raft off the Danish Island of Bornholm, which lies northeast of Oeland.

The semi-official Swedish news agency T. T. said Bernhard Reven, first officer, reported he heard sounds of engines while on duty at 4 A. M. Monday. Early in the afternoon he found what he believed to be parts of an aircraft cabin floating near the ship.

Defeat Not Admitted

Despite five days of search without finding any definite trace of the plane's survivors air force officers at Wiesbaden refused to admit discouragement.

"Survivors of sea crashes have been known to live for weeks in the emergency equipment which this plane carried," one spokesman said.

The missing four-engine plane, he explained, carried enough rubber life rafts for all its 10 crewmen. Each raft had provisions for 10 to 12 days and rubber exposure suits to protect survivors from freezing.

The aerial sweeps today were to extend nearly as far east as the Latvian coast, where the Russians said they exchanged shots last Saturday with an American plane. The airforce said the unarmed navy privateer was the only plane that possibly could have been in the area at the time.

In Washington, meanwhile, Senator Bridges (R-NH), proposed that American planes patrolling near the Russian borders be "armed to the teeth" and ordered to shoot back if fired upon.

The Soviet air force, Bridges said in a speech before the Senate, "ambushed and shot down in cold blood" a relatively slow and unarmed American patrol plane.

The Senate, he said, should order that American planes patrolling near the Russian borders be "armed to the teeth" and ordered to shoot back if fired upon.

Economic Advisors Report to Congress

Business Outlook Brightens

WASHINGTON, April 13—(AP)—General gains in production and buying power, reported to Congress for the first quarter of 1950, cheered the economic chart-watchers today.

Yet jobs remained a big question mark. In the view of the president's council of economic advisers, economic expansion has not hit a rate which will keep ahead of creeping unemployment.

The council sent to Congress yesterday its monthly report "economic indicators," covering the first three months of what the council had predicted would be a "good year."

The forecast has been borne out, thus far. National income climbed, after falling throughout 1949. Industrial production surged back, after the coal strike, to exceed January's level. Home building set a record.

Per capita personal income, after allowing for taxes, was at a rate which exceeded even the average of booming 1948. It was estimated at $1,323 for every man, woman and child.

And consumers prices, for the average city family, were down about 1½ per cent from a year ago.

The nation's output of all goods and services was measured at an annual rate of $258,000,000,000 for the quarter. This was below the rate of a year ago but the movement was upward, not down.

The council's acting chairman, Leon Keyserling, told a reporter the council has no reason to revise its January prediction of a good level of prosperity which can last through the year. He added this long-range qualification:

"We are not getting the expansion in industry and investment that we need to absorb the steady increase in the labor force. That is a serious problem."

A sharp rise in consumers' spendable income, or earnings after taxes, was attributed largely to the $2,800,000,000 insurance refund distributed to veterans.

Though consumers spending rose to a record rate of $181,000,000,000 annually in the quarter, the gain from late 1949 was relatively slight — about $1,200,000,000. Savings climbed steeply.

This the council interpreted as evidence that the veterans are clinging to their refunds and (Please turn to Page Twenty)

New Blast Fired By President

McCarthy's Charges
Basis for Outburst

WASHINGTON, April 13—(AP)—In a new blast at Senator McCarthy, President Truman today questioned whether it is possible to libel the Wisconsin Republican.

Mr. Truman's remarks came at a news conference when he was asked about a recent statement by Robert Taft (R-Ohio).

Taft had said the president libeled McCarthy by cracking at Key West, Fla., recently that McCarthy was the Kremlin's biggest asset in the United States.

"Do you think that's possible?" Mr. Truman fired back at his questioner.

And he said it was all right to use direct quotations.

Mr. Truman went on to say he hadn't read all that Taft had said; that he doesn't read all the political columns of all the people running for re-election.

In Taft Column

Taft made his statement about Mr. Truman, McCarthy and libel in a column he distributed to Ohio newspapers.

Taft is up for re-election this year, Mr. Truman noted. He added that he thinks the Ohio senator is interested in something else a couple of years from now.

The Ohio senator is frequently mentioned as a possible GOP presidential candidate in 1952.

Mr. Truman's original blast at McCarthy was in defending the state department from the senator's charges that it harbors Communists and their sympathizers.

A Senate foreign relations subcommittee and next week is to hear committee is investigating the testimony from Louis Budenz, former Communist leader who renounced his affiliation with the party.

There are reports that another witness, also described as a former Communist, may be called.

McCarthy's investigators were reported to have talked to the prospective witness, but there was no indication what bearing he might have on the senator's accusation that Lattimore is a top Soviet spy in this country. Lattimore has vigorously denied the accusation.

At the joint meeting the various phases of fire protection are to be studied, and some concrete agreement to be reached as to just what the trustees of the three townships

War Hero's Body Left on Dock; Parents Too Poor To Claim It

HAVERHILL, Mass., April 13—(AP)—The parents of a young war hero today awaited a government insurance check so they might reclaim the body of their son which they left on a Hoboken, N. J., dock more than a month.

Daniel Zombas said he and his wife had to leave the body on the pier because they lacked funds for its transportation here upon their arrival from Greece, March 10.

They have been waiting for the insurance check for a long time and don't know why it hasn't arrived, Zombas said.

"We haven't any money," said Zombas. "We don't know where to turn for help."

Zombas said his son, Staff Sgt. Themistocles Zombas, was killed in the Battle of the Bulge at the age of 23.

His body was returned to Haverhill in 1947 and buried. It was exhumed a year ago when the parents decided to return to Greece. They took it with them.

The couple found things too difficult in Greece and decided to return to this country with the body. But when they landed in Hoboken they had only money enough for their own transportation to this city.

Zombas said he and his wife left the flag-draped coffin on the pier after informing officials they would return for it as soon as they got the government check.

Racket Inquiry Is Nationwide, President Says

Campaign in Ohio
Is Called for by One State Official

WASHINGTON, April 13—(AP)—President Truman said today the crime problem is nationwide and not restricted to Kansas City.

He said it extends also to places like St. Louis and even to Washington.

Mr. Truman said he himself had ordered a grand jury investigation of the crime situation in Kansas City and proposed one in St. Louis.

The jury probe in Kansas City has been underway for some time.

He said other grand juries were operating elsewhere as part of an inquiry that is nationwide in scope.

The Senate also is considering an investigation of crime and gambling but a controversy has arisen over how it will be handled.

The crime discussion came up at the president's news conference as a result of questions built around the murder of Charles Binaggio, Kansas City political figure, and a lieutenant last Thursday.

A reporter noted that the murdered men had been witnesses before the grand jury in Kansas City that was probing rackets. He said that Attorney General McGrath apparently has not found legal authority for bringing the FBI into the case although Governor Smith of Missouri has asked all possible assistance.

What About FBI

Mr. Truman was asked whether he considers this a federal matter and whether he will ask McGrath to send the FBI into the Kansas City inquiry.

That, Mr. Truman said, is a matter for the attorney general to determine. It was then that he said the grand jury in Kansas City was called by the attorney general at the president's suggestion.

Then, to an inquiry as to the scope of the investigation, Mr. Truman said the scope was to get to the bottom of nationwide rackets if possible. He said they are not confined to Kansas City but operate in St. Louis and, if he's not mistaken, even in Washington.

Asked whether he meant the racket inquiry to be national in scope, the president replied that's right.

Nationwide rackets would be a target of the proposed Senate crime inquiry.

Republicans Opposition

The dispute over the probe flared up when Democrats proposed setting up a five man special committee to handle it. Republican Senate leaders decided to fight the move.

The GOP policy committee reached this decision late yesterday at a conference which boomed the investigation into a major political issue.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) made it clear the Republicans are suspicious of the Democrats' motives in proposing that the crime inquiry be taken from the judiciary committee.

He said the move apparently was made to keep two Republicans off the committee "who know most about it and are most interested in it." He was referring to Senators Ferguson of Michigan (Please turn to Page Two)

Wilmington College Opens Its New Dorm

WILMINGTON, April 13—(AP)—Wilmington College students waded in ankle-deep mud two years ago today, wielding old-fashioned picks and shovels.

They were digging a site for a new building to relieve the housing shortage at the 80-year-old Quaker school.

Today, 40 of their number occupied a brand-new dormitory, product of the students' ingenuity and a help-scheme conceived by President Samuel D. Marble.

It took two years and 20,000 donated man hours of labor. Service clubs, church groups and individuals contributed their time. Students from other colleges in Ohio and Indiana spent week-ends in Wilmington, lending a hand.

Businessmen and manufacturers gave materials valued at more than $60,000.

Total cost of the structure to Wilmington College was only a fraction of its $200,000 valuation.

Hours Are Set For Open House At Hospital

Dedication Plans
Further Discussed
By Committee

Decision was made Wednesday evening at the meeting of the Fayette County Memorial Hospital dedication committee, as to the hours for "open house" inspection of the new institution by the general public.

The session called by A. E. Weatherly, general chairman, dealt with details of the plans being made for dedication week, May 4, 5, 6 and 7. Representatives of the two hospital boards and Miss Christine Evans, administrator, were present.

There are decisions still to be made regarding the program and various other activities during the week, but the general plans are now fairly well set with the various chairmen of committees lined up to handle different assigned responsibilities.

It has been agreed by the committee and hospital authorities that on Thursday and Saturday, May 4 and 6, visiting hours by the public will be 1:30 to 4:30 in the afternoon and 7 till 9 in the evening. On Friday, May 5, the visiting hours will be limited to the afternoon only 1:30 to 4:30, with no visiting hours in the evening. The object of this is to give the hospital staff and the many others who will assist during the "open house" visiting hours, an opportunity for a rest and breathing spell. Several thousands of people are expected to inspect the new institution during that time.

Plans have been made for all who desire to see all departments during the hours assigned. Guides and narrators will be on duty to insure that everybody who attends will be given full opportunity to see the whole institution.

On Sunday, May 7, the dedication ceremony will be held at 2 P. M. on the hospital grounds.

The program and inspection plans are in charge of Fred Rost, with Atty. Charles Hire assisted by Paul Rodenfels and Forest F. Tipton, arranging speakers and certain other details.

Several prominent men in public and professional life, from other places in the state and nation are being contacted in the hope that they can be present.

Flag Raising Ceremony

A flag raising ceremony will be a feature of the program, calling attention to the fact that the hospital is dedicated as a memorial to those from Fayette County who were war casualties. The flag and flag-pole have been donated to the hospital by Col. Rell G. Allen, who will take part in arranging this ceremony.

Don Gibson and his committee will have charge of platform, loud speaker and parking facilities.

The parking on Sunday, May 7, will be limited to available grounds in the rear and at one side of the hospital. None of the front driveways of the institution will be used for this purpose. State highway patrol officers, the sheriff's office and the Washington police officers, together with representatives of some organizations, will be called upon by the committee in charge to help handle traffic and parking.

Paul Dougherty, as chairman of the invitation committee will send invitations to out-of-the-city public health authorities and to the State and National Hospital Associations. He and his committee also have various other assignments in connection with the event.

The Fayette County Medical Association and its Ladies Auxiliary, the Nurses' Association in the county and the Dental Society are expected to take a prominent part in the dedication week's activities.

Mainly About People

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hays, of Olympia, Kentucky, are announcing the birth of an eight pound daughter, Wednesday in St. Joseph Hospital, Lexington, Ky.

Mrs. Minnie Miller was taken from her home in New Holland, to the Kearns Nursing Home, in Circleville, Thursday morning in the Kirkpatrick ambulance.

James Rollo Ratliff of the Marchant-Luttrell Road, entered Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, Wednesday, where he underwent major surgery Thursday morning.

Mrs. Glenn Rodgers returned Wednesday from Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, after being a patient for the past five days for observation and treatment. Her condition is much improved.

C. D. Moore was taken from his home on the Bloomingburg and New Holland Road, to Doctors' Hospital, Columbus, Wednesday afternoon in the Hook and Son ambulance. Mr. Moore is suffering from pneumonia and a heart ailment and his condition is regarded as serious.

WCH Moose Members Attend District Confab

Four members of the Washington C. H. Moose Lodge traveled to London Wednesday to attend a regular meeting of district No. 8 lodges.

They were Jacob Weiszer, Ambers Conely, Ralph Butcher and Delbert Hartman.

All seven lodges in the district, Columbus, Circleville, Worthington, Sabina, Washington C. H., Lancaster and London, were represented at the meeting.

Items of business pertaining to civic activities of the Moose lodges were discussed.

The next district meeting will be held at the Washington C. H. lodge.

Sunnyside PTA Elects Officers

Mothers, Children
Honored at Meeting

Mrs. George Phillips is the new president of the Sunnyside PTA today.

At their final meeting for this year, the members elected Mrs. Phillips to succeed Mrs. Robert McDonald.

Other officers chosen for the 1950-51 school year were Mrs. Howard Thompson, first vice president; Leo Whiteside, second vice president; Mrs. Jean King, secretary; and Mrs. Edwin Ducey, treasurer.

After a short business meeting, the room mothers and children were honored for their accomplishments during the year by Principal Leo Whiteside.

The principal called the room mothers up to the stage to take a bow for the help they have given throughout the year, and did the same for children who had participated in the city's spelling bee, boxers, football and basketball players, cheerleaders and members of the mixed chorus.

For entertainment, the PTA members were treated to a few numbers by the chorus, under the direction of Mrs. George Pensyl.

The social committee in charge of the wind-up meeting was in charge of Mrs. Wayne Boswell. She was assisted by Mrs. Robert Moats, Mrs. Harold Burns and Mrs. George Phillips.

During the business meeting, it was announced that the Sunnyside and Cherry Hill schools would have a candy sale at the "Stephens Magic Shop" Friday night.

The nominating committee which proposed slate of officers for next year included Mrs. Condon Campbell, chairman, Mrs. Carl Preston, Mrs. Marshall Morr and Principal Whiteside.

Glover Addresses Marion FB Council

Members of the Marion Farm Bureau Council are more informed today about the Farm Bureau and its relation to the state co-ops and state Farm Bureau insurance companies.

At their last meeting, Ben Glover of the Fayette County Farm Bureau talked to them in detail as he explained the functioning of each of the organizations.

Glover also spoke briefly on farm and home safety, mentioning the fact that during World War II more people in the U. S. were killed in accidents on the home front than in the armed forces.

Mrs. George Trimmer, Mrs. Preston Dray and Mrs. Agnes Yeoman were chosen to the food committee and Mrs. Omar Rapp to handle devotions for the next meeting, May 9.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Reif and family were welcomed as new members of the council.

carried out in Franklin County which has proven highly satisfactory. He mentioned various stations, manned by volunteers except the chief. He said he favored locating equipment where it could go to a fire within a few minutes and without traveling six to 10 miles to get to the fire. He said a sharp reduction in insurance rates was obtained after fire protection had been set up in Franklin County.

Fire Chief H. E. Guthrie, of Leesburg and John P. Smith, chairman of the safety committee of the Greenfield council, also spoke regarding possible assistance.

Charles Gregg, member of Greenfield council, also was present. W. G. Fishback, trustee of Fairfield Township (Highland County) spoke briefly.

It was apparent that cooperation will be given by Greenfield and Leesburg as well as Washington C. H., if plans can be worked out and proper arrangements made.

Just before adjournment a suggestion made by Scott that the three townships board of trustees meet and present something definite to council was adopted. They are to meet with the county committee.

OHIO HAS PROBLEM, TOO

CUYAHOGA FALLS, April 13 (AP)—State and local laws should be examined with a view to strengthening them "to more effectively cope with organized racketeers," a state official said here last night.

Albert A. Woldman, state director of industrial relations, talked about the state's war on commercialized gambling when he addressed a gathering of Shriners.

The industrial relations director advocated creation of a state committee with power to subpoena gamblers' records and testimony and to recommend laws to cope with racketeering.

"You can't compromise with commercialized gambling racketeers," he said.

Woldman also said Gov. Frank J. Lausche should have the power to remove sheriffs.

"It might be well to create a state committee with full powers to subpoena, take testimony and compel the production of books and records and to make a thorough analysis of commercialized gambling and racketeering and the laws applicable thereto," Woldman said.

His department has been active in the campaign, he said, citing three clubs for alleged violations of the building code.

Woldman said that since Gov. Frank J. Lausche took office he has closed four or five "commercialized gambling joints." He added:

"x x x and only one remains open, and it is tottering and operates today only through the aid of the courts."

He referred to the Pettibone Club in Geauga County, now involved in a common pleas court building code case. The Pettibone, Jungle Inn near Youngstown, and the Mounds Club in Lake County, were cited by Woldman's department for alleged violations.

Woldman said the Jungle Inn and Mounds Club are closed, as well as the Benore Club in Lucas County and the Colony Club near Chesapeake, across the Ohio River from Huntington, W. Va.

The last legislature refused to give the governor power to remove sheriffs.

Eastside PTA Officers Named

Year's Achievements
Noted in Reports

Wives of physicians today headed the Eastside Parent-Teacher Association for the coming year.

Mrs. James E. Rose was chosen for president and Mrs. Marvin Rossmann was named for the first vice president at the unit's last meeting.

Mrs. Ruth Hopkins, the school principal, was named the second vice president, Mrs. Emmett Backenstoe the secretary and Otis B. Core the treasurer.

Their election was merely a routine of business when the list was presented by nominating committee.

Mrs. L. C. Scott, the retiring president, gave a complete resume of the year's activities of the unit and thanked the other officers and committee members for their cooperation.

A detailed financial report was given by Charles Hire, the retiring treasurer. He told the group there was a balance of $319.96 in the treasury.

It was during the treasurer's report that the achievements of the past year were underscored. Among the major projects completed by the PTA for the school were the hanging of new drapes in the assembly room at a cost of about $75, installing radios in each of the eight rooms in the building at a cost of about $120 and the purchase of a ditto machine for school use at a cost of about $150.

Money for carrying out these and other projects was raised by various enterprises by the PTA.

One such enterprise was the "white elephant sale" held as part of the evening's program. Eddie Kirk and H. E. Cook were the auctioneers and Hire and L. C. Scott were the clerks. The sale netted $34.50 for the PTA project fund.

Early in the meeting, the group was led by Mrs. Nell Paul, one of the teachers, in singing PTA songs.

The attendance banner for the meeting went to the third grade room taught by Mrs. Ruth Barker. The banner is awarded to the room with the best representation of parents in attendance.

Donuts and coffee were served at the close of the meeting.

CHICAGO, April 13 (AP)—An early advance failed to hold in grains today.

The market opened on a steady note and then moved upward with new crop wheat deliveries in the lead.

Oats met fairly heavy selling, much of it profit-taking on prospect of clearing weather in the Midwest this week-end, which traders thought would spur seeding. Corn, rye and soybeans sank with other cereals.

(Editor's Note: This is the third of five stories explaining the fight over the Hoover Commission's proposal to lump the VA hospital program in with other government hospital programs.)

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, April 13—(AP)—The Federal government is spending about $1,000,000 a year on its various medical programs and hospitals.

That includes the army and navy hospitals in this country, the public health service, and the hospitals and medical care provided for veterans by the Veterans Administration (VA).

The Hoover Commission, headed by former President Hoover, recommended that all the hospitals be placed under the single control of a new agency to be called the United Medical Administration.

The idea behind this recommendation—since the commission's job was to suggest ways of running the government better and cheaper—was that it would make the government's medical program more efficient and less costly.

There is sharp dispute over both points: More efficiency, at less cost. But on the subject of cost both the friends and foes of the recommendation are pretty vague.

The Hoover Commission itself didn't attempt to say how much the one-agency-for-all-hospitals would save the government.

On the other hand the American Legion, which says the plan would cost more than the government is spending now, can't say how much more. The Legion, which wants VA to keep all its own hospital independently, is leading the fight against the plan.

But as for efficiency, the Hoover Commission says the plan would:

Improve the general standard of medical care; provide central control over the government's various programs for medical care, public health, and medical research; standardize the costs of building hospitals; get the most use of federal hospitals by wiping out the present distinctions as to the types of beneficiaries for which each can care now; and let the government make better use of its medical manpower.

But it's right on that point—would the Hoover Commission plan better the way hospitals are run separately now?—that the dispute begins.

Some of the statements of the plan's friends and foes will be given in a later story. But --

What the veteran wants to know about the plan can be boiled down to three questions. He'll get opposite answers. The thing to remember is that at this point the whole business is a matter of opinion, and conflicting opinion at that.

Q. Does it make sense to handle veterans, soldiers, sailors, dependents of men in the armed forces, and patients of the public health service all in the same hospital?

A. Friends of the Plan: Sure, a patient is a patient no matter who or where he is. Foes of the Plan: No, for admission to such a hospital would depend on the availability of beds not occupied by non-veterans.

Q. Mightn't this all-patients-in-one-hospital plan mean a veteran might find himself crowded out?

A. Foes of the Plan: Sure it might, in spite of the fact that the government has a special obligation to the veterans particularly the one with a service-connected disability. Friends of the Plan: No, there'd be plenty of beds to go around, if the hospitals were merged.

Q. Would the plan mean more red tape for the veterans?

A. Friends of the Plan: No. He'd still go to VA to get an okay if he wanted to get into a government hospital; VA would still be responsible for getting him in. Foes of the Plan: Sure, more red tape. Instead of dealing with the familiar VA alone, the veteran would have to deal with VA and then with the new, independent hospital.

Brinks Holdup Clue Studied

BALTIMORE, April 13—(AP)—The FBI began checking today to see if six money bags—one with markings of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston—found in a pursued car have any connection with the $1,000,000 Brinks holdup in Boston last January.

Police gave chase to a car late yesterday after it ran a red light in northeast Baltimore. After a short pursuit, the cruiser crowded the fleeing auto into a curb and arrested the two occupants on charges of having numbers slips in their possession.

Special Agent M. W. McFarlin said he was sending the bag to Boston to permit officers there to check the marked bag.

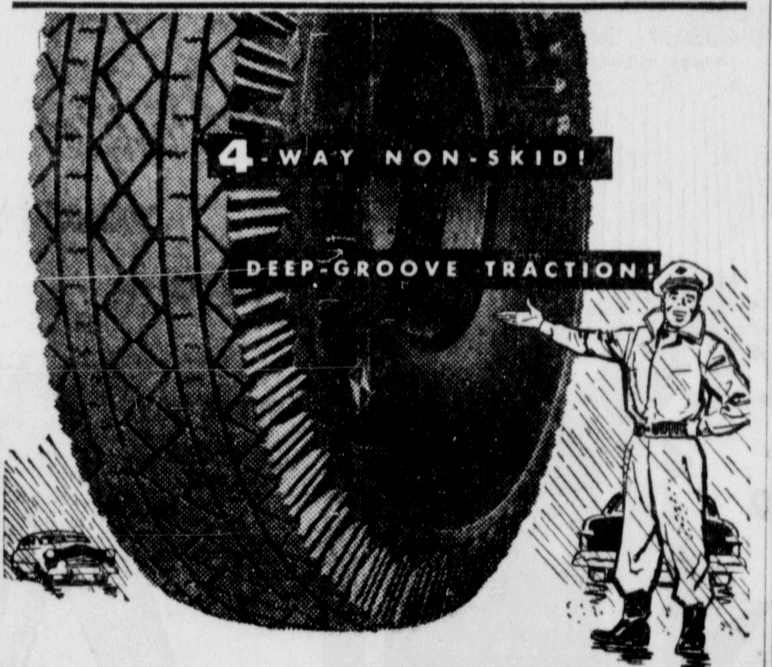

The men arrested identified themselves as Earl Melvin, 21 and Willie Harris, 21, of Baltimore. Both are Negroes. They were released in $1,000 bail each.

Some worms have a branching sack for a stomach.

The technical name for the television tube is "kinescope".

THE PROGRAM BOOKED for opening the week's entertainment at the Fayette Theater is definitely on the lighter—the laughing—side. "The Yellow Cab Man," featuring Red Skelton, starts a three-day run Sunday. In the above scene from the picture, Red is about to demonstrate how he can hurl a baseball into an automobile windshield without breaking the glass. Gloria De Haven stands by to judge the results in the uproarious M-G-M comedy.

Wilmington Music Club Presents Colorful Program At Cecilian Club Meeting

The April meeting of the Cecilian Club held in the Dayton Power and Light Company Club room Wednesday was highlighted with a colorful program on classic dance forms presented by the Women's Music Club of Wilmington.

Opening the meeting, the president, Mrs. Harry G. Craig announced that the meeting on May 10 at the home of Mrs. Walter D. Craig as guest night when a request program will be presented. She then introduced the president of the Wilmington Music Club, Mrs. Harriet Steele who in turn presented the program chairman Miss Jane S. Hayes. Miss Hayes read an interesting paper on "The Development of Music Through The Dance", in which she explained how the dance which had its origin as a realistic procedure among primitive races. While later becoming degraded, it was frowned upon by the medieval church, came back into favor in the 16th and 17th centuries and inspired the composition of the classic forms of music created for dancing.

These types of composition being developed and elaborated as musical instruments were perfected, evolved in the 18th century into the instrumental compositions of J. S. Bach and his contemporaries and successors who composed for the instruments rather than for the dancers, still, however, using the dance forms in a highly developed style. Dressed in lovely period costumes the group of guests illustrated with graceful dances the various types of compositions played upon the piano, carrying out the following program: "Soeur Monique, Francois, by Mary E. Stanfield pianist; "The Earl of Salisbury, William Byrd, by Alma Kelsey pianist. Dances included "Allemande, The Honie-Suckle", Anthony Holborne; a German number by Geraldine Johnson and Phyllis Borror in 16th century costume, Courante, from Suite III in G Minor, Henry Purcell; A Spanish dance by Georgiana Hansford; Gavotte, Gavotte du Ballet du Roi, Jean Baptiste Lully; a French number by Mary E. Stanfield and Phyllis Borror. Bourree in E minor, Johanna Sebastian Bach, another French number, by Geraldine Johnson and Phyllis Borror.

Gigne, The Queen's Jig (1867) author unknown; in Italian-English a 16th century dance by Mary E. Stanfield, Kathleen Bowman, Harriet Steele and Alma Kelsey. Piano numbers in the finale included those from the French Suite V in G Major, Johann Sebastian Bach, Miss Lucy Hague played Allemande, Courante, Bourree, Loure, Gavotte, and Sarabande and Gigue was played by Mary E. Stanfield.

At the close of the program the hostess committee with Mrs. G. B. Vance chairman, Mrs. Marian Gage, Mrs. Andrew Loudner, Miss Elsa Petersen, Miss Christine Switzer and Mrs. O. W. Woodyard served dainty refreshments.

Welfare Program Is Highlight Of Meeting

A child welfare program highlighted the meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary held Wednesday evening in the Legion Hall with Mrs. Michael Helfrich president opened the meeting in ritualistic form.

The usual reports and those of standing committees were heard, and Mrs. Charlene Malone rehabilitation chairman outlined the arrangements for the monthly visit to the Chillicothe Veteran's Hospital April 18.

A letter was read from the superintendent of the hospital inviting the members to attend open house there on May 7, in commemoration of National Hospital Week. Mrs. Carl Oyler, department president of the Auxiliary will be the official hostess and the Ohio State University band will furnish the music for the occasion.

The members voted to furnish entertainment for one ward at the hospital on that day. A committee made-up of Mrs. Howard Mace, Mrs. Roy West and Mrs. Ray Mershon, was appointed to purchase kitchen accessories for the remodeling at the Legion Hall.

A report on the serving of the Young Republicans dinner showed a gratifying sum to be added to the treasury.

The meeting was turned over to Mrs. Norris Highfield, child welfare chairman, who presented two junior members, Kay Minshall and Mary Lou Highfield in a piano duet and Mrs. Sweeney, Dean of Girls at the OS & SO Home, Xenia.

Three girls a senior, junior and a sophomore at the high school there were also introduced as representatives of the Home at Girls State in June, which was made possible by the Department of Ohio Auxiliary.

Mrs. Sweeney explained how the Home was organized, and why and also the school system. She stated that the school enrollment at present is 424 and twenty-six in this year's graduating class. She also told of the appreciation and China appointments for the serving of the tempting dessert course and at the close of the play during the afternoon the hostesses presented awards wrapped in the form of "Easter chapeaus" to Mrs. Howard Fogle who was the holder of high score and Mrs. Hughey Thompson second. In the evening winners of awards which were duplicated, were presented Mrs. Joseph Cokerly, high score winner and Mrs. Frank E. Jackson second. Out of town guests included in the evening were, Mrs. J. D. Butt, Mrs. Ross Hamilton, and Mrs. W. W. Shepler of Circleville.

Sorority Holds Model Meeting

The model meeting of the Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Wayne Bower. The president, Mrs. Edwin Thompson opened the meeting in ritualistic form and the usual reports followed.

A program committee made up of Mrs. Wayne Bower, chairman, Miss Virginia Bandy, and Miss Ruth Engle was appointed for the Mother-Daughter banquet to be held in May. Members on the food and decorating committee are: Mrs. Samuel Wilson chairman, Mrs. Eugene Eyre, Mrs. Gordon Davis, Mrs. Charles Mallow, and Mrs. Dale Smith.

Mrs. Bower gave some of the highlights of the chapter during the four years since its organization.

Mrs. Edwin Thompson and Mrs. Mac Dews Jr. explained the purpose of the sorority.

Several beautiful pictures which have been purchased for the new Memorial Hospital were on display.

The meeting was adjourned with the closing ritual. Mrs. William Lucas Jr., program chairman, introduced the speaker for the evening, Mr. Robert Terhune, who gave a well received address.

New pledges present were, Mrs. Charles Mallow, Mrs. Ronald Guinn, Mrs. William Marshall, Mrs. Clyde Helmsinger, Miss Joy Cockerill, Mrs. Harold Armbrust and Mrs. Charles Mustine.

Tempting refreshments were served by the hostess during the social hour and she was assisted by Mrs. Lloyd Fennig, Mrs. Dwight Martin and Mrs. Eugene Eyre.

of the assistance the Auxiliary furnishes in extra gifts for the children at Christmas, as well as added equipment. The girls also spoke enthusiastically of their activities in the Home, and their appreciation of the gifts by the Auxiliary.

A social hour followed, during which Mrs. William Markley, hostess chairman, was assisted by Mrs. W. R. Hook in the serving of tempting refreshments.

William Horney Chapter DAR Holds Regular Meeting

The William Horney Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, met Wednesday afternoon at the lovely old home of Mrs. Marvin Stockwell, near Bookwalter.

The regent, Mrs. J. D. VanGundy, presided over the meeting, opening with the salute to the flag, led by Miss Louis Fults and singing of the national anthem.

Mrs. Frank Marshall, secretary, read the minutes of the March meeting.

The award for the Star Honor Roll, in the contribution to the National Building Fund, presented the chapter was displayed and it was announced by the regent that the William Horney Chapter had the highest contribution in the state to the Indian project.

Reports were given by the delegates who attended the state convention. Mrs. Harold Zimmermann reported on the highlights of each session, while the regent, Mrs. VanGundy, reported on the memorial service, including one member honored who was Mrs. Blanche Hays Ritenour, a past regent of William Horney Chapter.

Mrs. R. O. Whitaker of London, the new state vice regent and an honorary member of the chapter, was presented, and in a few well chosen words, expressed her appreciation to the chapter for their support given in attaining this honor.

A social hour followed, during which dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. J. Smith, Mrs. Fred Lampe, Mrs. Nathan Ervin, Mrs. Jean Warner and Mrs. Alan McClain.

Guests included were Mrs. Harold Cline, Mrs. Cecil Long and daughter Judy, Mrs. Homer Harrison and Miss Gay Warner.

Sometimes glue can be removed by soaking the stain in warm water. White vinegar also may be used.

Coffee stains not more than a few hours old can be removed by pouring hot water on them from a height of two or three feet.

Church Society Meets with Mrs. Swope

Mrs. Madison Swope was hostess to the Comrades of the Second Mile at her home in Bloomingburg with Mrs. Delbert Looker as her assisting hostess.

Mrs. Walter P. Noble lead in the opening devotionals reading scripture from John and an article entitled "The Changing Years," closing with prayer.

Mrs. Charles Cunningham vice president conducted the business session during which the various reports were heard.

It was decided by the members to purchase an acre of land in Honduras for Mr. Donald Hawk a missionary. The program chairman Mrs. Arthur Engle used as her topic the subject "Communism in China."

An auction sale of baked goods and miscellaneous articles followed with Mrs. Willard Bitzer as auctioneer, netted a tidy sum to be added to the treasury.

Dainty refreshments were served from a table lace cloth covered and centered with a lovely arrangement of jonquils in an antique container, flanked with white tapers in crystal holders, with Mrs. Walter Noble presiding.

Mrs. Will Vernon was included as a guest.

Two Speakers Address Browning Club Members At Final Meeting of the Year

Mrs. Emerson Chapman presided at the final meeting of the Browning Club for the 1949-50 season which included final plans for the annual banquet to be held Monday April 24 at 6:30 P. M. at the Washington Country Club.

The entertainment committee chairman Mrs. John Case Jr. announced that a very interesting program had been arranged.

Miss Ellen Buchanan, contralto will sing a group of songs. Miss Buchanan, a Washington Court House girl is studying voice at Ohio State University and just recently gave a recital there.

Her group of songs will include several numbers from her recent recital.

The committee was fortunate in securing as speaker for the evening Prof. Ervin F. Frey of the School of Fine Arts at Ohio State University, Columbus.

Prof. Frey will use the movie, "Stone and the Sculptor".

This sound movie gives the complete story of the carving of two stone statues for Fairmount Park, Philadelphia.

Prof. Frey is recognized as one of the foremost sculptors in America today.

His monumental works in stone reflect his own integrity and warm human sympathy.

Since 1915 when he went to San Francisco to work up the heroic sculptures that graced the Panama Pacific Exposition, he has manifested a steady growth in his chosen field of art, winning numerous awards and prizes and exhibiting in museums and galleries throughout the nation.

Prof. Frey who recently made a radio plea for more worthy war memorials stating that unless statues are placed primarily to the spiritual qualities in man it will not endure, has been interested in art since his boyhood days.

Born in Lima, Ohio, Prof. Frey studied at the Art Academy of Cincinnati, the Art Students League of New York, the Julian Academy in Paris and many other prominent art schools.

Members of Browning Club and their guests at the banquet have a rare treat in store for them.

Mrs. Chapman then turned the meeting over to Mrs. Willard Bitzer program chairman for the evening.

She presented Miss Dixie Lee Ellison who sang two numbers, "In Vienna" and "That Man of Mine". Dixie Lee, who always captivates her audience with her charming manner and lovely voice was accompanied on the piano by Miss Helen Louise Hynes.

In a few well chosen words Mrs. Bitzer introduced Mrs. Wayne Woodyard whose paper entitled, "Conservation and Our Diet", pointed up the constant trend in the past few decades toward an emphasis on soil conservation as a method of producing more nutritious food.

It is a major problem of the homemaker to serve a well balanced diet to her family to get the best possible food values for the least money. She stated that a well balanced diet is a veritable fountain of youth, producing abundant health and imparting a glow to the skin and a sparkle to the eye that no cosmetic can imitate. People who eat a balanced diet usually live longer and look younger than those who do not. Wisely chosen food can give you a trim waistline, calm nerves, vim and vigor and a joy in living. Carelessly chosen food may give you stunted growth, lessened resistance to disease or a shortened life span.

She expanded her theme by dividing food into six major groups and developed each interestingly.

She gave the relative nutritive value of the foods making up these groups and their particular function in our body.

She stressed the importance of proper preparation of food in conserving the nutritive properties. She brought out forcibly the disastrous loss of these same nutritive values when poor cooking methods were used. She not only emphasized good cooking and pleasing flavor as important con-

Engagement Is Announced

Miss Mary Lou Follis

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Follis, 426 East Paint Street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Lou, to Mr. Richard Arnett of Greenfield.

Both Miss Follis and her fiancé are students at Miami University and will graduate in June. The marriage is to be an event of late summer.

ditions for good nutrition but also made temptingly served or appointed foods a major requisite.

She concluded her paper with the warning that good nutrition was a matter of gravest concern not only to each of us but to all Americans if we wished to become the world's healthiest people.

Concluding the program and tying in very appropriately with Mrs. Woodyard's paper was the movie shown by Mr. Baker chief of the Soil Conservation Department of Fayette County, entitled "The Other Side of the Fence". He prefaced the movie with a few very interesting facts concerning the loss of productive soil in our country since the days of the Pilgrims.

He stated that 57 million acres of crop land had been totally destroyed never to be reclaimed except by force that another fifty million acres were on the brink of going over and another one million acres were severely damaged.

He brought out the fact that unless we give this depletion problem serious thought that by the year two thousand, only fifty years away, our country will be unable to feed its two million people.

The movie introduced livestock frantically reaching for grass on the other side of the fence. Scientists puzzled over this and after much research discovered that the grass that the livestock so craved had minerals not found in apparently the same kind of grass.

Developing this theory they found that meat produced on mineral starved land did not provide nutritious food for our people; that vegetables raised on this type of soil, although they might resemble those produced on soil

Two Combine At Shower For Newly-Weds

Mrs. Daisy Leeth and Miss Bertha Hurles entertained at a miscellaneous shower, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Homer Rose, Sr., at the home of the recently married couple, which was planned and carried out as a complete surprise.

The guests arrived with lovely gifts and the hostesses provided a beautifully decorated wedding cake, which was served with ice cream.

The remainder of the evening was spent in informal visiting. Guests participating in the event were: Mrs. Frank Dunn, Mrs. Jack Mossbarger, Mrs. Homer Moore, Mrs. Agnes Rose, Mrs. Levi Lowe, Mrs. Dora Williams, Mrs. Charles Wright and daughter, Georgibel, Mrs. Zada Winters, Mr. Graydon Marshall, Mr. Roy Engle, Mr. Darrell Hurles, Mrs. Bessie Hays, Mrs. Lawson Rhoads, Miss Josephine Hurles and Mr. Rodman Scott.

rich in mineral, would contain little food value for us.

The scientists went further with their research to find that our hospitals are packed with little children with poor bone structure and deformities due to improper diet largely traceable to food produced on starved land. That this condition can be directly traced to just such soil deficiencies was proven with livestock animals fed the same amount and type of food one group eating feed from starved soil, the other from mineral rich soil, were found to produce sick fat animals for market while the others continued thin and of poor quality.

Mr. Baker very graciously answered questions from the group after the movie. At the close of his talk it was announced that Mrs. Homer Garringer is chairman of the decorating committee for the banquet and the program chairman will have charge of the tickets.

Men Spruced Up for Spring

BY DOROTHY ROE

The man of the family offered competition to the feminine contingent this year in the Easter hat parade.

Men's hats at the mid-century mark have attained more color lighter weight and more casual comfort than ever before. This spring manufacturers have concentrated on feather-weight felts which are as comfortable as straws, and have turned them out in a variety of paletones of brown blue and gray.

But it's in the bands that color has a heyday. Some of the bands are much wider than formerly, some come in two-tone twisted arrangements, others in small, bright necktie prints such as previously were worn only on straw hats. College colors also are being used on hatbands.

Snap brims are still first choice, and the casual, colorful look is gaining ground, even among conservative males.

Now is the time to remind that husband or beau of yours to go shopping for a new spring suit. He may need some coaxing, but secretly he'll be pleased at the prospect.

If your husband is the type who allows you to go along and help him pick out his suit, here are some pointers to keep in mind to be sure he gets his money's worth:

1—Examine the fabric, to be sure it is top quality. Smooth, light-weight worsteds and sharkskins are a top choice this season. Flannels are always good for spring—especially the light-weight varieties. And a big development this year is the use of rayon and wool blends for light-weight suits that can be worn all summer in comfort.

2—Select the correct cut for his build and type. If he's conservative, he probably will prefer a single-breasted sack suit with notched lapels.

3—Be particular about the fit. Shoulders should follow a natural line and not look obviously padded. The sleeve should fit smoothly into the armhole without puckering. Collar and lapels should lie flat and smooth, with no bunching at the back.

PTAs To Tell Of Achievements

Annual Meeting
Monday Evening

Plans for the annual Achievement meeting of the Fayette County Parent-Teacher Associations Monday evening today were in the final stages.

The affair, one of the big events on the county school calendar, is to be held this year at the Bloomingburg School.

It is to start with a covered dish supper at 7 P. M. in the school cafeteria.

After the supper, the activities are to shift to the auditorium for the achievement reports and entertainment program.

Committees Have Job

Mrs. Floyd Henkleman is the chairman of the supper committee. While the food is to be brought in by the members of the PTA units, there still is much to be done in the way of getting up the tables and chairs and arranging the uncovered dishes in the logical sequences, from the entrees through the main courses to the deserts and coffee and tea.

Other committees have been putting the program in shape and still others will have the decorations to take care of. But, the preliminaries for their assignments will have been just about wound up when the doors open for the supper.

Of course, the program committee will have to see that everything moves along in order and then there always is the clean-up that cannot be escaped.

Primary Purpose

The primary purpose of the Achievement meeting once a year is to give each of the 14 PTA units in the county an opportunity to tell the others what it has achieved during the preceding year.

This is done through the reports that are to be given when the gathering gets settled in the auditorium after supper.

The outlining of the achievements is not in the nature of bragging, it has frequently been emphasized; rather, it is to give the different units new ideas from the experiences of other units.

Highlighting the achievement reports will be the financial statements of each unit. For, the building of funds for school projects usually are among the top projects of the PTAs and serve as a guide to major achievements along this line, it was explained.

Mrs. George Burke, Jr., the president of the county PTA council, is to preside over this phase of the meeting and supervise the reports.

Entertainment, Too

The report on the County Band Boosters organization—and it has been one of the most active and best coordinated in its projects in the county schools—is to be given by Mrs. Carl McCoy.

And, after the Band Boosters report is heard, the All-County Band is to give a short concert to show just why it has merited such loyal support.

The rest of the entertainment program is still in the formative stages. The backbone of it, however, is to be a series of short numbers presented by each of the 14 PTA units in the county organization.

Some of the parent-teacher groups in the county go under the name of Parent-Teacher Association and some under Parent-Teacher Organization. But, they all are included in the PTA Achievement meeting, regardless of name.

There is to be no election, something unusual in an annual meeting of any organization. Officers for the county association are chosen by the presidents of the 14 different units who form what is known as the council.

Van Schoik Here On Ferguson Tour

O. Perry Van Schoik spent several hours in Washington C. H. Wednesday in the interest of State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson's campaign for the Democratic nomination for United States senator.

Before he left, he made the prediction that Ferguson would carry Fayette County in the party's May primary election and then added "he (Ferguson) will win in 87 of Ohio's 88 counties." The exception was Lucas (Toledo) County.

Van Schoik said Fayette County was the 43rd he had visited in his canvass of the state on behalf of Ferguson.

If Ferguson wins the Democratic nomination, he undoubtedly will have to race Sen. Robert A. Taft in the November elections.

Van Schoik has held a position in the state auditor's office for the past 14 years, he said. He has many friends in Fayette County where, in the past, he frequently came on official business.

He spent most of his time Wednesday, however, with the county's party leaders.

Week Ends in Jail For Punishment

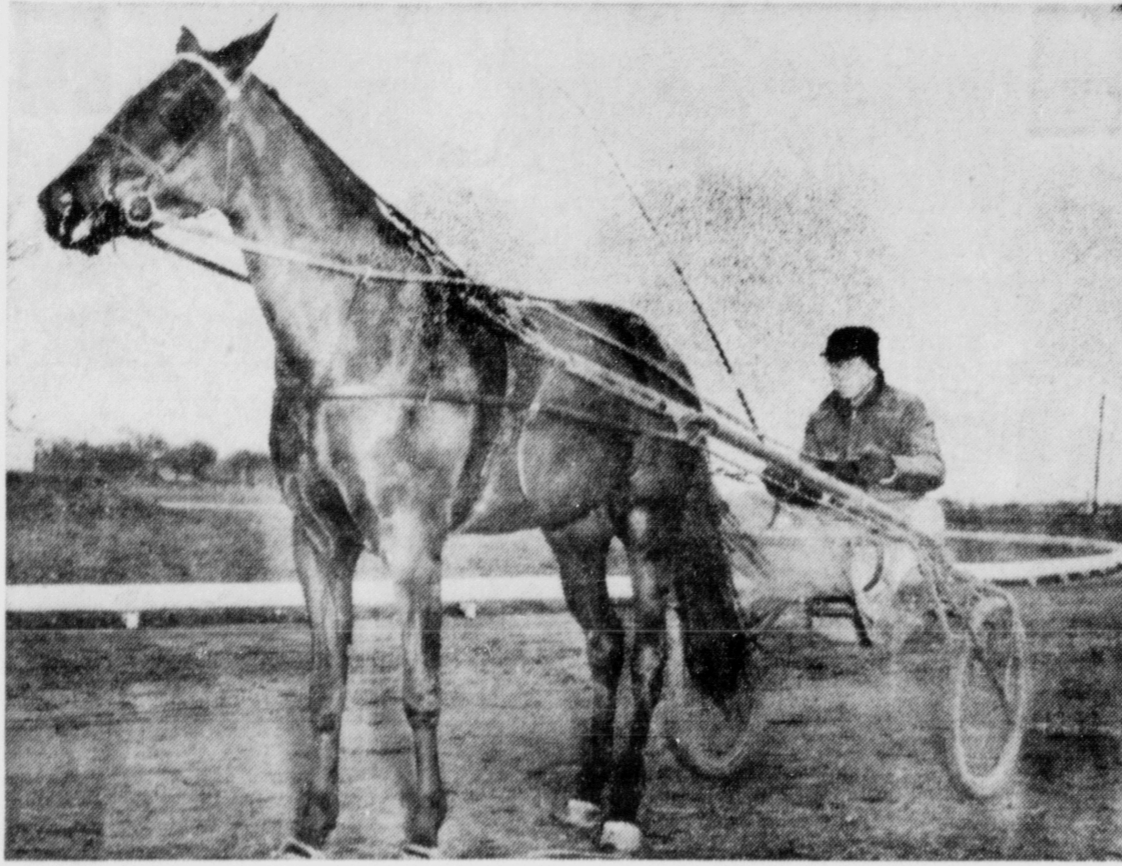

WARREN, April 13—(P)—Eighteen persons who appealed contempt convictions resulting from a strike at Taylor-Winfield Corp. here must serve 10 to 20 day jail sentences. But they may do the time on weekend.

Common Pleas Judge H. E. Culbertson of Ashland County said yesterday that those who chose weekends must report to Trumbull County jail at 7 A. M. Saturday and remain until 7 A. M. Monday, each weekend thus served would be a credit of two days on their sentence.

Menace to Drivers

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya—(P)—Unpainted corrugated aluminum sheets used on roofs and fences are proving a menace to motorists here. Blinding flashes of light during certain hours of the day were a great danger to motorists, said the Municipal architect, Mr. C. O. Jennings.

Ambition Realized by Hugh Beatty As He Trains Harness Horses Here

HUGH BEATTY, WHO HAS STARTED A HARNESS HORSE TRAINING STABLE at the Fairground here, is shown coming off the track with Flo Vincent, a three-year-old trotter, after a few exercising rounds in the chilly wind of early spring. Beatty has six other horses in his stable.

When Hugh Beatty was a boy in high school here, he spent just about all his spare time out at the Fairgrounds looking at the horses with longing eyes and watching the trainers and "swipes" taking care of them.

That was 20 years ago.

Today, Hugh Beatty is back out at the Fairground—but now it is not in his spare time—it is to take care of his business, the business of training harness horses.

Beatty never made any effort to conceal his love of horses, any kind of horses.

He liked to ride horseback and once in a while, if he stuck close around the barns, he got the chance.

When the industrial arts class of the high school undertook the task of building a barn at the Fairground as a field project under the supervision of G. B. Vance, the instructor, Hugh Beatty was the first on the job in the morning and the last to quit in the evening. It gave him a chance to be around the horses—and to do something for them.

Gets First Horse

It was not so long after that, that Beatty got his first taste of what was to become his vocation later in life.

He bought a mare from Dick Allen, a horseman in the northwestern part of the country who did his training at the Fairground. As Beatty recalls now, her name was Helen Worthy. But he does remember distinctly that she was, as he described it, "speed crazy." "She could burn up the track for half a mile...nothing could catch her...but that was as far as she would go," he recalled with a smile over that first and very important lesson in horse business. He sold her at the old Snider sale barn.

Not long after that Beatty's health broke and he went to the arid southwest.

After a rest, he took a position in a bank, but soon drifted back into the world of horses, first with show horses and then with the runners.

Trained The Runners

For the last eight years he trained and raced thoroughbreds from Agua Caliente, Mex. to the swank Hollywood and Santa Anita tracks in California and across the country to Florida.

His last training position with the runners was for El Dorado

Farm at Bensonville, Ill., near Chicago. With that stable, he saddled winners at the major tracks in Chicago and Florida.

Star of the El Dorado Stable under Beatty's stewardship was Pad Lock. He was a high strung and hard-to-manage colt, but he still holds the Washington Park (Chicago) track record for five furlongs at 1:04 flat.

All the time he was with the runners, Beatty said he was learning and planning to return to his first love—harness horses.

He achieved that ambition last winter when he opened a public training stable at the Fairground here.

It was no snap, he admitted. He started long before daylight and stayed with his charges until after dark on those cold, short winter days. But, he added, he was happy.

Experience Pays

The hard work, he said, has paid off in the development of his charges. He even has some of the old timers commenting on the good condition and sharpness of the horses under his care.

Beatty modestly shrugs off the compliments and gives credit for his success thus far to his varied experience with horses and his devotion to them.

Of the seven trotters in his stable now, two are his own. The rest belong to other owners. He describes them like this:

Flo Vincent, a promising three-year-old trotter owned by Dr. O. O. Burt of Londonderry;

Fontana, a two-year-old trotting filly owned by P. E. Caldwell of Chillicothe.

Scott Win, a nine-year-old veteran that has been converted to the pace after reaching the 21 class on the trot, owned by Carey Maddux of Washington C. H. and a three-year-old pacing filly owned by Marion Cockerill and Homer Bireley.

Beatty's own horses are Volo

HER SON DEAD of gunshot wounds, Mrs. Wanda Dietrich (right) is comforted by Mrs. Mildred Angel as they leave Los Angeles hospital. Little Rickey Dietrich, 3, was accidentally killed when a 6-year-old playmate shot him. (International)

Harvester, a seven-year-old 22 class trotter that was raced last season by Eddie Cobb, and Ramble Song, a five-year-old 21 class trotting mare, he bought from G. Damon Baker.

The young trainer is making predictions about the future. He said he realized he faced many trials and tribulations along a rough road, but that he had hopes. He plans to do his own driving.

$1 Reward Given For $18,000 Find

PITTSBURGH, April 13—(P)—A factory worker found a woman's purse containing $18,000 last night—but he didn't know about the size of his find until he boarded his usual bus this morning to go to work.

Henry Kholos, 27, Westinghouse Electric Corporation punch press operator, said he found the purse on the floor of the bus after an unidentified woman got off. He gave the purse to driver Montell Simmons, who returned it to the owner when she waved him down on his return trip. Simmons got a $1 reward. He told Kholos about it this morning.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions. If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Census Takers Forbidden to Reveal Facts

Population Count For Fayette County To Be Released

Residents of Fayette County today were given assurance by Paul J. Groeber, census district supervisor, that any information obtained from them by census takers will be held in strictest confidence.

Groeber said that the law which authorizes taking the 17th Decennial Census of the United States expressly forbids census takers and other employees from communicating to any person not a sworn census employee any information obtained in the discharge of their official duties.

Severe penalties are provided for violation of the census law on the part of employees of the census bureau. To reveal any such information, he pointed out, would render the census taker liable, upon conviction, to a fine of as much as $1,000 and imprisonment for 2 years.

"Moreover, prosecution for such offense may be instituted even if disclosure of information is made after employment with the Bureau of the census is ended," he stated.

Groeber said that the census law even forbids a census enumerator to answer if he is asked what the population is of his district or any smaller area. Such requests, whether from newspapers, local officials, or individuals, must be referred to the office of the census district supervisor. This office will make a preliminary announcement of the population soon after the district's enumeration has been completed.

Census enumerators are directed not to omit any dwelling house, structure, farm or resident in their districts, and not to enumerate willfully as a resident of his district any person not entitled to be counted in the enumeration district.

Enumerators also are forbidden to enter upon the questionnaire the name of any fictitious person or to make any fictitious or untruthful statement concerning any person or farm enumerated. Conviction upon such a charge would lay the enumerator liable to a fine of as much as $2,000 and five years' imprisonment.

Under provisions of the census act, enumerators are not allowed to combine their work with any other occupation, such as collecting information for directory publishers, soliciting subscriptions to newspapers or magazines, or selling or advertising any article whatsoever.

The census takers are not allowed to engage in any activity or discussion with respondents that is not directly related to the work of obtaining required information. They may not, for example, leave any cards or other literature which does not relate to the taking of the census.

"In view of all of these restrictions, plus the fact that every employee of the census bureau is sworn to secrecy, no one need fear that information given to the census takers in April will be revealed or otherwise misused," Groeber declared.

Sheriff Conducts Gambling Raids

Sheriff Harold Bidwell, of Madison County, in two recent raids, one in Mt. Sterling, made 23 arrests on charges of gambling. Fines aggregating $720 were assessed against those arrested.

The Floyd Wickell pool room in Mt. Sterling and the Jake Schlegel pool room on South Main Street, London, were the places visited by the sheriff and his deputies.

Wickell, proprietor of the Mt. Sterling place, was fined $200 and costs in Justice Gerald Payne's court at Lafayette.

Schlegel, London pool room operator, drew $300 and costs. Others in the establishments were fined $10 and costs each.

Sheriff Bidwell, in connection with the raids, said:

"We intend to enforce the statutes regarding gambling, slot machines, punch boards, 'cookie jars,' pinball machines that pay off, and other forms of gambling."

"The recent wave of beatings and hi-jacking in nearby counties makes it imperative that we begin to take measures to prevent such occurrences here."

Truebloods Are Partners in Law Now--Shingle Out Here

Mrs. Lillian Trueblood and Brooks G. Trueblood

There are two newcomers to the field of law in Fayette County who should be able to provide the answers to either sex.

The reason is simple. The newcomers are man and wife. They are Brooks G. Trueblood and Mrs. Lillian Trueblood.

Their shingle is out at 144 South Fayette Street, Washington C. H.

The male side of "Trueblood and Trueblood"—Brooks G.—took on the added role as his wife's partner in law just recently.

He took the bar examination in February and was formally admitted to the bar March 29.

Both Truebloods received their LL.B. at Ohio Northern University at Ada. Mrs. Trueblood had two years of undergraduate work at the University of Missouri, while Brooks received all his pre-law training at Ohio Northern.

Hoodlum Wounded In Fight with Cops

AKRON, April 13—(P)—Police fired more than 60 bullets today in a gun fight with two hoodlums cornered in the Easton Cartage Co. truck garage. There were two casualties—one on each side.

One of the pair, Charles Pinkerton, 22, was picked off as he was trying to escape through a window. He was in People's Hospital with a bullet in the neck, in fair condition.

Among the 24 shooting policemen, Detective James Flanagan was felled with a bullet that grazed his temple. He was treated at the hospital and released.

Here Is Proof History Known

Little Mistake Caught Quickly

PHILADELPHIA—(P)—A lot more people than you might think are surprisingly well informed about and interested in American history.

That's the conclusion of Attorney Arthur Littleton. He was the victim of a reporter's embarrassing mistake that brought to light the widespread interest in one incident, and brought him a basketful of mail.

Littleton is Chancellor of the Philadelphia Bar Association. Recently in a luncheon speech he detailed the origin of the phrase "Philadelphia lawyer" as it is used to describe an attorney or person who is very astute, resourceful.

Quite correctly, Littleton said in the speech that the appellation was earned by Attorney Andrew Hamilton of Philadelphia, who was counsel for John Peter Zenger in a famous New York libel suit in 1735.

Zenger, a pioneer printer and newspaper publisher, had declined to accept official censorship of his government exposures, and was arrested on charges of seditious libel instituted by the colonial governor. So powerful was the governor, Cosby, that two New York lawyers who sought to defend Zenger were disbarred, which discouraged others from undertaking the defense.

Hamilton accepted the case and by his brilliant work in court earned acquittal for Zenger. To quote Littleton: "Without a shred of law with him he carried on one of the most magnificent defenses ever conducted before a jury."

An Associated Press reporter preparing a news story of Littleton's speech erroneously wrote that Littleton had identified the lawyer as "Alexander" Hamilton. The reporter added that this "Alexander" Hamilton was the first U. S. secretary of the treasury.

The story was widely published. And shortly afterwards Littleton began receiving chiding letters from strangers and friends. Correspondents from Maine to Florida, and as far west as Wisconsin and Kansas, wrote to point out that Alexander Hamilton, the first secretary of the treasury, was not born until 1757—22 years after the Zenger trial.

The letters came from school teachers and pupils, from retired army officers, bankers and lawyers, from relatives and friends.

One girl, a high school pupil, wrote that: "This may come as a shock to you, but Andrew Hamilton, and not Alexander, etc."

To each correspondent Littleton wrote a letter explaining that the error was not his but that of the reporter. Littleton says the one inescapable conclusion from the whole correspondence was that a great many persons know the correct version of the Zenger defense.

Fire Protection Emphasized Here

Fireproofing Code Applies to New Units

Fire protection was underscored here today as more and more individual heating units were being installed to take the place of central heat which is to be discontinued by the Dayton Power & Light Co.

Fire Chief George Hall said inspections of buildings, where conversions to gas, oil or coal heating plants has been completed, are now in progress.

An inspector from the division of factory and building inspections of the state Department of Industrial Relations is in Washington C. H. to discuss fire protection regulations with property owners. He is working with Chief Hall.

Chief Hall pointed out that inspections--and compliance with the state code--are advantageous for two main reasons: (1) protection from fires and (2) lower insurance rates.

He ventured the assertion that the saving in insurance premiums "would go a long way" toward meeting cost of adequate protection. Help was offered to who requests it.

Compliance Essential
Chief Hall said he had been notified by the state agency that installations in all commercial and public buildings and apartment houses for three or more families (or with three apartments) would have to comply with the state code.

Specifications for fireproofing heater and fuel rooms, he added, would be furnished to all property owners, contractors or anyone else responsible for installing them.

The fire chief emphasized that while compliance with the fire protective measures is compulsory, the inspections were offered as a public service first on a practical basis.

Chief Hall expressed doubt whether many property owners were familiar with the protective regulations or their importance. That is one reason, he declared, why he and the state inspector hoped property owners who had converted from central heat would call on them for help.

Some Requirements
Some of the fireproofing requirements were outlined as:

Fireproofing of rooms in which heating units are located or fuel stored with standard masonry walls; at least one of the walls must be an exterior wall with window not less than four feet square.

Ceilings over the heater and fuel room must be covered with asbestos board.

Metal lath must be wired to underside of all furring strips and turned down six inches on all walls.

All metal lath must be plastered with mixture of cement and asbestos.

The full specifications provided under the code go into considerable detail on both materials used in the construction and the installation. It is these details that Chief Hall and the inspector said they stand ready to discuss with property owners.

Chief Hall said he had been advised by the state inspection bureau "that where these standards are met, only a minimum increase in insurance rates will be applicable where conversions take place."

Food Prices Down Slightly

(By The Associated Press)

Several brands of coffee, a few spring vegetables, and broiling and frying chickens were a little cheaper in most stores this week.

There was a scattering of small reduction on some lamb and pork items, but no general retail price movements in meats. Eggs and dairy products held close to pre-Easter levels.

On the produce counters, asparagus, artichokes, cabbage, peas, peppers, spinach, strawberries and tomatoes were marked down as shipments increased.

But several vegetables edged upward, too-snap beans and cucumbers particularly, as good quality supplies proved inadequate for the demand. Onions, carrots, bleached celery and lettuce of the agriculture department in New York said a cold snap in the area centering around the Carolinas threatened widespread damage to new crops of beans, radishes, eggplant, tomatoes, watermelons and peaches. Frosts also dimmed the peach prospects in many growing sections farther south and in the midwest. And the Pacific northwest peach crop was expected to be extremely short because of severe weather earlier.

Coffee Eases Down

The coffee price cuts, amounting to two cents a pound in most instances, were initiated by a few nationally-advertised vacuum-packed brands and then followed by most regional roasters.

One national distributor said green coffee prices do not justify the reduction (third this year for many of the roasters) but "it has definitely been established that intense consumer resistance is encountered at 20-cent retail levels."

The major chain stores, whose cheaper bag-packed coffees have not suffered as steep a sales drop, did not trim prices on their own brands immediately. Some trade sources estimated vacuum-packed coffee sales are running as much as 30 per cent below last year's level.

The agriculture department this week lopped nearly 14 per cent off its winter wheat crop estimate. The federal crop board blamed the reduction chiefly on dry weather, greenbug infestation centered in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and southern Kansas (and described as the severest in modern farm history), and on acreage abandonment in the southern great plains. Observers said if spring wheat production should also be curtailed and the year's total this year dropped below a prospective billion-bushel market, the 425,000,000 bushels of wheat in the government's surplus stocks might well come in handy to meet U. S. domestic and export needs.

The department also estimated the 1949-50 orange crop will be two per cent above last season, but grapefruit production will be down 19 per cent.

Smaller Donut Hole

On the lighter side of the food news: The National Donut Week committee (the week begins Saturday) announced that the "official" size of the donut hole is to be reduced to 1/4-inch from the 3/8-inch diameter which has prevailed for some years. The change will be effected in most of the industry's automatic machines next week after a suitable ceremony in New York, the committee said, "because we feel it will make donuts easier to hold for dunking."

Work Is Resumed At Lustron Plant

COLUMBUS, April 13—(AP)—Receiver Clyde F. Foraker said Lustron Corp. will resume production prefabricated steel houses tomorrow with a full force of 500 workers.

The plant shut down for a week to build up a month's supply of materials for 72 more houses after getting an indefinite extension of its 30-day operating receivership.

Foraker said Lustron filled its quota of 115 houses during its 30-day trial run under receivership. The Reconstruction Finance Corp. asked receivership after Lustron defaulted on $37,500,000 in government loans.

IT'S HARD TO BELIEVE-BUT TRUE!

IT'S ANOTHER TIDE MIRACLE!

IT CUTS WASHDAY WORK IN HALF!

A DAZZLING CLEAN WASH WITHOUT RINSING

...IT'S A NEW TIDE MIRACLE!

Just wash—wring out—hang up!

WOMEN EVERYWHERE say it's the best washday news ever! They love the time and trouble and water they save by skipping the rinsing! But most of all they love the way their clothes come dazzling clean. You already know how clean Tide gets clothes with rinsing—cleaner than any other washing product known. Now try the same wonderful Tide without rinsing, and compare the results. You'll be amazed to see how bright and clean your wash comes right from the wringer. Get Procter & Gamble's Tide today. Every package of Tide on your dealer's shelf right now will give you a dazzling clean wash without rinsing!

HERE ARE THE FACTS ABOUT WASHING WITHOUT RINSING

1. How can Tide get clothes clean without rinsing? Tide keeps the dirt suspended in the sudsy water. When you wring out the clothes, the dirt runs out with the washwater—clothes come from the wringer CLEAN, and dry as bacteria-free as rinsed clothes.
2. Will clothes come white? Yes, clothes come dazzling white! Just see if you can possibly tell the difference between a rinsed, and an unrinsed Tide-washed shirt!
3. How about ironing unrinsed clothes? When you use Tide without rinsing, clothes dry soft and fluffy... iron easily.
4. Is this method safe for fabrics? Yes, it is safe... skipping the rinsing and extra wringings actually saves wear and tear on clothes.

"I'M THROUGH WITH RINSING—THANKS TO TIDE!"
SAYS MRS. GLORIA GUY, DETROIT, MICH.

"The grandest thing that ever happened to washday is Tide—without rinsing! The time it saves! Best of all—washes come out clean and dazzling white!"

Einstein Happy With Problems

Paradise on Earth Found in Science

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
NEW YORK—To Albert Einstein, it is paradise just to study the riddle of our universe.

The great scientist writes about it in a rare chapter of autobiographical notes in a new book, "Albert Einstein: Philosopher-Scientist," the latest volume in the Library of Living Philosophers.

Einstein wrote the autobiography in the winter of 1946-47, in German, in longhand.

"Here I sit in order to write, at the age of 67, something like my own obituary," he begins. (He is now 70.)

It is not the usual recording of dates, places, people, and events. Instead, Einstein tells how his thinking developed, leading to his famous theory of relativity.

For, he says, "the essential in the being of a man of my type lies precisely in WHAT he thinks and HOW he thinks, not in what he does or suffers."

Explaining part of his philosophy, he writes that "even when I was a fairly precocious young man the nothingness of the hopes and strivings which chase him came to my consciousness with considerable vitality."

"Moreover, I soon discovered the cruelty of that chase, which in those years was much more carefully covered up by hypocrisy and glittering words than in the case today. By the mere existence of his stomach, everyone was condemned to participate in that chase."

"Moreover, it was possible to satisfy the stomach by such participation, but not man in so far

College Choir To Give Concert Here April 24

THE MILLIGAN COLLEGE CONCERT CHOIR, pictured above, of Milligan College, Tenn., is to give a concert at the First Christian Church, corner North and Temple Streets, here starting at 8 P. M. April 24. The choir was organized in 1946 and since that time has toured more than 9,000 miles into 17 states giving concerts. Most of its appearances have been in Christian Churches in big cities such as Cincinnati and Canton in Ohio, Chicago, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Indianapolis and Washington, D. C. In addition to its concert tours, the choir has presented many radio programs, and appeared on many special chapel programs at colleges.

E. Gordon Warner, pictured at the right end of the front row, is the director.

as he is a thinking and feeling being.

"As the first way out, there was religion, which is implanted into every child by way of the traditional education-machine. Thus I came—despite the fact that I was the son of entirely irreligious parents—to a deep religiosity, which however, found an abrupt ending at the age of 12.

"Through the reading of popular scientific books I soon reached the conviction that much in the stories of the Bible could not be true. The consequence was a positively fanatic (orgy of) free-thinking coupled with the impression that youth is intentionally being deceived by the state through lies; it was a crushing impression.

"Suspicion against every kind of authority grew out of this experience, a skeptical attitude towards the convictions which were alive in any specific social environment—an attitude which has never left me, even though later on, because of a better insight into the casual connections, it lost some of its original poignancy.

"It is quite clear to me that the religious paradise of youth which was thus lost, was a first attempt to free myself from the chains of the 'merely-personal,' from an existence which is dominated by wishes, hopes and primitive feelings.

"Out yonder there was this huge world, which exists independently of us human beings and which stands before us like a great eternal riddle, at least partially accessible to our inspection and thinking.

"The contemplation of this world beckoned like a liberation, and I soon noticed that many a man whom I had learned to esteem and to admire had found inner freedom and security in devoted occupation with it. The mental grasp of this extra-personal world within the frame of the given possibilities swam as the highest aim half consciously and half unconsciously before my mind's eye.

"Similarly motivated men of the present and of the past as well as the insights which they had achieved were the friends which could not be lost. The road to this paradise was not as comfortable and alluring as the road to the religious paradise; but it has proved itself trustworthy, and I have never regretted having chosen it."

University. Twenty-five internationally prominent scientists and philosophers contributed chapters criticizing or commenting upon Einstein's scientific theories and his philosophy.

English Princess Shocks 'em Again

LONDON, April 13 —(AP)—A young man took Princess Margaret to the theater and she smoked another cigarette in public.

It happened last night at the Victoria Palace, where the Crazy Gang, a pack of zany comedians, is performing in "Knights of Madness."

The 19-year-old princess' escort was the Marquess of Blandford, who will be 24 tomorrow.

At intermission she took advantage of the British custom that permits smoking in auditoriums. She stayed in her seat — downstairs with a lot of commoners — and had a cigarette in a holder.

Lately she has smoked on other

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkali (non-acid) powder on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

Blind Boys To Get Life's Thrill By Bowling in ABC at Columbus

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, April 13 —(P)—A dozen kids, six blind and six partially blind, get their sports thrill of a lifetime April 28.

They'll bowl, as full-fledged contestants, in the 47th American Bowling Congress.

The members of the two teams, all students at the Ohio State School For The Blind, don't expect to finish last in the big barrage, either.

The boys come from all parts of the state, but Columbus has adopted them as its own for the pin classic which opens here Saturday.

A dozen new shirts, 12 pairs of shoes, and a dozen new bowling balls were donated anonymously, as was the $81 entry fee. On top of that, various unknown donors showered $100 for equipment, 23 used balls and 31 pairs for bowling shoes for use on the two alleys at the school.

The boys will be taken to the state fairgrounds coliseum and returned to the school in free taxicabs, and will get a free dinner.

Champion and Roland Hudson of Columbus.

All the boys are of high school age, 14 to 17. In the five-man race the low scorers on each team will drop out after the first game, giving the substitute a chance.

Back in 1942, last time the ABC was held here, two teams from the school for the blind participated. One rolled scores of 449-521-520 for a 1490 total, and the other 493-491-490 for 1474. The latter series was the most consistent of the tournament, only three pins separating the high and low games.

The ABC, running from April 15 through June 13, features a $377,000 prize list for 5109 five-man teams, and 22,393 singles competitors. The event is the seventh largest in the 47-year history of the congress.

Seabiscuit's Jock Still Boatin' 'Em in After Many Spills

By BEN SMITH
OLDSMAR, Fla.—Johnny (Red) Pollard, who piloted the mighty Seabiscuit to some of his greatest victories more than a decade ago, is still opening the eyes of racing fans with his daredevil riding.

Spectators at Sunshine Park here watched with amazement at the skill of the little fellow in booting his mounts through needle eye openings, during the recent meeting.

You'd think that after a score of years in the saddle and countless broken bones, Pollard would

HOLDING OUT for more pay, Al Widmar, who pitched for Baltimore in 1949, refuses to report to the St. Louis Browns and threatens to take his case to court if the Browns don't up their pay offer of $7,000. Widmar, who won 22 games for Baltimore, says he received $8,000 for pitching for the Orioles and doesn't see why he should get a promotion and a $1,000 pay cut. He reportedly is seeking $10,000. (International) take the easy outside track once in a while.

But the records of Johnny's seven wins here are full of such official remarks as "slipping through on the inside" and "finding an opening and driving through."

The Butte, Mont., jockey had his best year in 1937, when he and Seabiscuit made an almost unbeatable combination. They won 11 of the country's major handicaps and Seabiscuit's $168,580 earnings made him top money winner of the year.

Then Pollard broke a shoulder in a spill. By the time he recovered Seabiscuit had gone lame.

Many turf followers thought both horse and rider were washed out, but they made a triumphant comeback in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap in 1940. That win vaulted Seabiscuit into first place among the world's thoroughbred money winners.

It was their last big race together, for soon afterwards a fall sidelined Red for three years with a broken back.

Pollard had had so many broken bones that when the army rejected him, he relates, he was classified "BUJ." The army explained that meant "busted up jockey," Red said.

He admits to 38 years, but acquaintances think he may have skipped a few birthdays.

Whatever his age, he doesn't let that or his patched up frame-work stop him from giving the youngsters here some plain and fancy lessons in how to get that nag across the line first.

Expert Advice

The following editorial from the Columbus Citizen was brought to this paper with a request for publication, by Ralph Penn, secretary of the Fayette County Friends of the Land.

It relates to the proposed Brannan Plan and other matters relating to agriculture, being in part quotations from a talk by Chester Davis who is national president of Friends of the Land. It follows:

Chester C. Davis is one of this country's real authorities on agricultural problems.

He was born on an Iowa farm. He edited a farm paper for several years. He was Montana's state commissioner of agriculture in the 1920s. He was the New Deal's first head of the old Agricultural Adjustment Administration. He served for a time as war food administrator during World War II.

Mr. Davis, now president of the St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank made a speech the other day at Des Moines, in his native state. And that speech was full of good sound sense.

For instance: Supports (of farm prices) at wartime levels will lead in the all-too-soon future to tight acreage control, impossible-to-manage farm surpluses and eventual price collapse.

And: We should have learned by now that bare enactment of a law doesn't make price supports effective at the prescribed level. The prices have to be worked out by shirt-sleeve operations on the farm, in the warehouse or in the market place.

And: I am convinced that if we had followed the lessons of the last 15 years — let's make it 25 years—we would have stuck to the long-range provisions of the agricultural act of 1948. (That was the Aiken flexible price support law which the Democratic Congress repealed last year.)

And: Don't let anyone tell you there is magic in this device (the Brannan plan) by which to insure high wartime incomes to farmers on the one hand and cheap to consumers on the other. The idea may have political sex

College Football TV Seriously Considered

CHICAGO, April 13—(P)—The Big Ten, talking it over with "neighbors"—Notre Dame, Pittsburgh, Nebraska and Marquette, will try to fix a football television policy this weekend.

The Saturday-Sunday session primarily is a huddle of Big Ten athletic directors, but representatives of the other four schools were invited to join the forum on the vexing video subject. All four outside schools have more or less football traffic with the Big Ten.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association marked time on the subject at its annual meeting in New York last January, but instructed members to limit television commitments to one year.

This weekend's convocation may accomplish considerable spadework for possible NCAA action on television at its 1951 convention in Dallas next January.

Kirk Tractorettes Hold First Place

Kirk's Tractorettes today continued to roll along comfortably at the front of the Ladies League race in spite of the loss of one game out of three in Wednesday night's bowling at Bowland.

The second place Paulin Motors girls from Mt. Sterling lost two games to the third place Beauticians, but the outcome did not jeopardize their position.

The only clean sweep of this round of matches was made by the Wade Shoes who shut out the Mac Toolers.

In the other match, the King-Kashers took the first and last games from the NCR girls.

Perfect Bowling Score

CLEVELAND, April 13—(P)—Bill Slabe, a 35-year-old shoe store clerk and a bowler for seven years, bowled a perfect 300 game at Dickey's Recreation here last night—the first of his career. He had a three game series of 300-188-162 for 650 bowling for Spaulding Funeral Home in a league match. His average is 172.

Alabama is said to have chosen the yellowhammer as state bird because its coloring is similar to that of the Confederate cavalry uniform.

ALTHOUGH beaten in two of the big Florida stake races, Theory, the Calumet Farm's Derby hope, heads for Louisville and the big May classic, still highly considered because of the Calumet Farm's record in the Churchill Downs event. (International)

Two WCH Teams Tied for Second

Two Washington C. H. teams today were deadlocked for second place in the Lions League as the result of two clean sweeps in Wednesday night's bowling at Bowland.

But, the Jamestown Tamers managed to stay on top, although they won only one game out of three from the Bloomingburg Tailtwisters.

Tied for second were the WCH Claws, who were blanked by the WCH Tailtwisters, and the WCH Tamers, who won three games from the WCH Cubs.

The other two matches resulted in split decisions. The Bloomingburg Tailtwisters kept out of the cellar by winning two from the Jamestown Tamers and the WCH Claws held their No. 4 spot by winning two from the last place Jamestown Cubs.

High individual total was tallied by McLean of the WCH Tamers with a 556 on games of 169, 211 and 176.

Mid-American Look Takes in Toledo U.

DAYTON, April 13—(P)—Toledo University today is a member of the Mid-American Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

Decision to admit Toledo was made at a special meeting yesterday, said Commissioner David E. Reese of Dayton. Three other schools submitted membership applications, which he said were tabled.

Reports that Butler University of Indianapolis had dropped out of the league were heard again today. Butler the only one of the six 1949-50 season members not at yesterday's session. But Reese said that "as far as we are concerned, nobody is out."

Is It Miller or Marion?

Big Cardinal Question

HOUSTON, Tex.—The St. Louis Cardinals disposed of an old problem and picked up a new one.

They went to wonder who would replace Marty Marion at shortstop this year when he needed relief. Now they're asking: Shall it be Marion or Eddie Miller at short?

Since Miller joined the Cards, he's had plenty of chances to show his stuff. And Manager Eddie Dyer likes his performance. Miller's acquisition was a timely one as Marion has gone to St. Louis for treatment of a knee injury.

Boston To Welcome Braves Back Home

BOSTON — Boston's National League favorites, the Braves, were scheduled to arrive home today, having cleaned up their northward barnstorming tour yesterday with an 18-2 trouncing of Class B Richmond Vols of the Piedmont League. Manager Billy Southworth will assign Connie Ryan to second base in tomorrow's intra-city game against the Red Sox if Earl Torgeson is fit to play at first. Torgy twisted a knee in the South but worked out here yesterday.

Red Pitchers Facing Test

CINCINNATI, April 13—(P)—Cincinnati Reds' pitcher Howard Fox will try to go the distance today in an exhibition game with the Philadelphia Phillies at Crosley Field.

If the lanky righthander does, he will become the first Redleg pitcher to do it this spring. Howie went eight innings against the Boston Braves at Lynchburg, Va., last Saturday and Johnny Hetki travelled eight yesterday. That's as far as any hurler for the Rhinelanders has gone.

Manager Luke Sewell, after viewing Cincinnati's 6-4 defeat by the New York Yankees here yesterday, probably is crossing his fingers and hoping catcher Walker Cooper will keep on slamming out circuit blows. For it was two two-run homers by the Yanks that set back the Reds.

Back to Minors For Elmer Riddle

INDIANAPOLIS, April 13—(P)—Elmer Riddle, veteran National League pitcher, is back in the minor leagues again today because he realizes he hasn't the stuff to help the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Manager Billy Meyer reluctantly released Riddle outright to Indianapolis of the American Association, the team on which the 34-year-old right-hander played shortly after beginning his career and where he finished the 1949 season.

Injuries to Players Worry Tiger Bosses

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 13—(P)—Because of injuries, the Detroit Tigers aren't sure of their starting outfield for the American League opener Tuesday at Cleveland. Their only fully sound regular is Johnny Groth. Hoot Evers' bad ankle "feels much better" but is questionable. Vic Wertz also has an injured ankle but he is back in action.

Feller Looks Good In Edging Giants

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 13—(P)—One way or another Manager Lou Boudreau's problems with over-age Cleveland Indians appeared on the way to solution today.

As the Indians arrived for today's exhibition against the New York Giants, one veteran was on his way home and another was showing signs of a comeback.

Ken Keltner, a fixture at third base since 1938, left the club yesterday for his Milwaukee home with an unconditional release. At slow to field bunts or get enough hits.

Bob Feller, however, looked something like he did in his prime yesterday when his fast ball and a sharp breaking curve led the Indians to a 9-4 win and an 8-7 series edge over the Giants.

Bauer Sisters In Pro Golf

NEW YORK, April 13—(P)—The frisky, good looking Bauer sisters will swing at golf balls for pay from now on.

Marlene, 16, and Alice, 22, said yesterday, through Father Dave, they were giving up their amateur standing to join the professionals.

They will enter their first tournament at Pebble Beach, Calif., April 29 under the management of Fred Corcoran, tournament manager of the Women's Professional Golf Association. Opponents will include pros Babe Didrickson Zaharias and Patty Berg.

Coach Changes Jobs

DAYTON, April 13—(P)—Sam Andres, athletic director at suburban Oakwood High School, last night announced that Ed Wysocki, football coach at Tipp City High School, had been named head grid coach at the Oakwood School.

Dodgers Picked To Win Again

Reds Are Allotted Seventh Place

By JACK HAND
ORANGEBURG, S. C., April 13—(P)—This is the Brooklyn era in the National League. Unless the confident Dodgers trip over their own press clippings, they figure to win a second straight pennant.

Perhaps the aging St. Louis Cards, with their gilt-edged pitching, again can make it close. Maybe Billy Southworth can threaten with his revamped Boston Braves.

More likely, the Brooklyn club with its speed, extra base power, run-making ability and tight defense has too much on the ball. Except for erratic pitching, the Dodgers are a well balanced team. They shouldn't lose unless they beat themselves with overconfidence.

The Phillies, a real surprise package last year, probably are at least a year away from serious pennant contention. Pittsburgh should do better if second baseman Danny Murtaugh bounces back. New York, minus some power but stronger in the infield, shapes up as a second division club.

Despite a fine showing in the Grapefruit League, it looks as though the only club Cincinnati can beat out is Chicago. The Cubs' youth movement hasn't had time to jell.

Here's the way it looks from here:

1. Brooklyn
2. St. Louis
3. Boston
4. Philadelphia
5. Pittsburgh
6. New York
7. Cincinnati
8. Chicago

Big Ten Baseball Openers All Set

CHICAGO, April 13—(P)—The Big Ten baseball race opens tomorrow with Iowa invading Illinois and Minnesota visiting Ohio State for two-game sets. Each series will close on Saturday. Illinois and Ohio State were rated the strongest contenders in a poll of conference coaches. Last season's race wound up in a three-way tie between Michigan, Iowa and Indiana, each with an 8-4 record.

The rest of the field will not open league play until the following weekends. On April 21-22, Michigan will be host to Minnesota; Wisconsin will entertain Ohio State, and Northwestern will be host to Illinois.

Convicted Killer Granted Appeal

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 12—(AP)—Harry Burdette has another six months, at least, to live. The 28-year-old carpenter who helped stomp a man to death in a drunken rage was granted an appeal by the state supreme court yesterday.

Burdette's attorneys contend that Burdette was too drunk to be guilty of premeditated—first degree—murder. He was convicted of the charge and was sentenced to die in the electric chair Friday night.

Burdette took up religion in his cell after his conviction and several Sundays ago was baptized in an icy creek. He said then that if his life were spared, he would devote the rest of it to God's work.

CHAPTER TWENTY
JENNY leaned her head on her hands, her elbows propped on the desk. She had done the wrong thing. She should have waited a little longer, given the neutral atmosphere of her home time in which to work a change in Dick's attitude toward Pete and Elsa. She played with the idea of scaling the dinner off. She knew that her friends would agree instantly, but she also knew that Dick would consider it a victory for his uncompromising antagonism. She would have to let it go through.

The meal turned out worse than she had imagined it could. Dick showed a side of his nature which she had not dreamed he possessed—the side to which Elsa had alluded when she told about their trip home. He talked loudly, interrupted everyone, ate with atrocious manners, fed Gillie against Jenny's express commands, and flatly contradicted everything that Elsa said. At last Elsa subsided into complete and resigned silence. Pete lashed out once or twice at his son, but Dick took his scoldings with an impudent air which his father did not know how to combat. Jenny watched this performance with an observant eye.

After dinner, when the dishes were about to be washed, Dick came out to put Gillie's harness on, and take him for his post-prandial walk. Jenny said, without raising her voice at all, "No, Dick, not tonight. I'll take him later."

"I'm going to take him now," he said loudly, but she saw that he hesitated, his hands fumbling with the leash.

"Come into the studio with me a minute, Dick," Jenny said. "I want you to help me with something. Back in a sec, Elsa," she called, as she and the boy left the room.

Safe in the privacy of the studio, Jenny said, "Now, Dick, I suppose you know why I am not letting you take Gillie out tonight."

He did not answer, but his eyes lowered, and he had the grace to redden. After a moment, Jenny said, in a perfectly conversational tone, "You've been hurt, Dick. I know. But because you've been hurt, is that any excuse for you to kick Gillie?"

His eyes widened in instant denial. "I didn't! I wouldn't do any such thing!"

"No, I'm sure you wouldn't," Jenny admitted. "Because he's smaller than you are. He's helpless against you, really. But have you ever considered how helpless Pete and Elsa are?"

His frown was her answer. "Try to see their side of it for a minute. They wouldn't hurt you, any more than you would kick Gillie. But does that give you the right to hurt them all the time? When they can't retaliate?"

He scuffed one foot against the other, then blurted out, "They don't want me. They're mad because they have to take me!"

"How do you know?" Jenny demanded.

"Well—well, why wouldn't they be?"

LEGAL NOTICE
April 11, 1950
Sealed bids will be received by the Board of Trustees of Paint Township of Fayette County, Ohio, until Monday this eighth day of May, 1950, at 12:00 noon for furnishing one new two-ton truck, cab and chassis with the following equipment: 8.25x20 10 ply tires, 2-speed axle, 3 yard dump bed with quarter roll cab protector, booster brakes, heater and defroster. Bids will also be received on the following obsolete equipment not needed for public use: 1945 Model Ford truck with dump bed; the amount of the bid for said obsolete equipment will be subtracted from the selling price of the new truck and equipment as a means of determining the lowest bid.

The Board of Trustees of Paint Township, Fayette County, Ohio, reserve the right to reject any or all bids. Mail all bids to: Paint Township Trustees, Joe Elliott, Clerk, Bloomington, Ohio.

AUCTION!
SABINA PROPERTY
SATURDAY APR. 22
SELLS AT 2:00 P. M.

LOCATED—125 Ohio Street in Plain View Addition, Sabina, Ohio.

New, semi-modern, one-floor plan, concrete block house with five rooms and bath. Second floor is unfinished but there is ample space for two bedrooms. Utilities include gas, city water and electricity. Only three blocks from school and within walking distance from downtown Sabina. Mail service to the house. Large lot with space for garden. Lawn is seeded and shade trees planted. This practically new home is in good condition throughout. Sale on the premises. Sells to the highest bidder. TERMS—$500.00 cash at time of sale, balance to be paid upon delivery of deed. Good title and IMMEDIATE POSSESSION.

Dee Everman, Owner
Sale Conducted by The BAILEY-MURPHY CO., Wilmington, Ohio

"Would you be?" Jenny asked. Then, suddenly, she saw what she must do. She said, "Perhaps I'm betraying a confidence, Dick, but I know you'll not repeat this. Pete and Elsa have always wanted children. It was the one grief of their married life that they had none."

"Pete had me!"

"No, he didn't," Jenny told him. "He sent money for your expenses, but he hardly ever got to see you. Why, he didn't even know you were going to be born when your mother got the divorce."

Dick looked up sharply. "He didn't?" This was news to him, and Jenny realized that of course his mother would not have told him that.

Jenny left it at that. "Suppose you go up and do your homework now," she suggested. "You can come down again later."

"But Gillie," he pleaded.

"No," she said firmly. "I'll take Gillie tonight." She went toward the kitchen, called back, "Thanks for helping me, Dick." That, she reflected, should save his face as far as his parents were concerned. They need never know of that brief interview in the studio.

He was subdued when he came down at eight o'clock. Gillie greeted him happily, but Dick only patted the old scottie on the head, and sat down in a corner of the room. He had very little to say, and his presence lent an obvious constraint to the conversation of Pete and Elsa. Despite Jenny's valiant efforts, the evening dwindled and died.

When the guests had gone, Dick turned to her and said defiantly, "See? They don't like me! They freeze up when I come into the room."

Jenny was tired. "They like you all right," she said wearily, "but they're wary of getting rebuffed every time they make a move toward you."

"You mean, they think I try to slap 'em down?" he said incredulously.

"You and nobody else," she told him. "It's up to you to make a friendly move, Dick."

He waved his arms helplessly.

Jenny yawned. "Pete's been working awfully hard on that room of yours, Dick," she said. "Why don't you run over there after school tomorrow and tell him how nice it is? Maybe give him a hand. Pete isn't awfully mechanical, you know."

"Sure. Sure, I will," he said. And suddenly he looked the bewildered small boy again, not a difficult adolescent at all. Jenny weakened.

"It's late," she said doubtfully, "but if you want to take Gillie out to his bedtime walk..."

"Do it!" Boy and dog vanished toward the kitchen in one animated streak, and Jenny set about closing up for the night.

"If I had an independent income, and knew a little about protocol," she said to herself, "I could go in for the diplomatic corps. But," she added wryly, passing a hand across her forehead, "I don't

Cleveland Commie Is Ordered Deported

CLEVELAND, April 13—(AP)—The U. S. Immigration Service today ordered David Balint, ex-Cleveland labor leader and admitted Communist, deported to Czechoslovakia.

Balint, 42, a native of that country, is charged with belonging to a group advocating the violent overthrow of the government. He came to the United States in 1920.

Termites

Cause damage in excess of fifty million dollars annually for REPAIRS alone. These destructive pests work in secret and may be destroying your property NOW. Have it inspected by an expert and be SURE. There is no charge for the inspection, and if your property is not infested they will tell you so. If termites are present you will be SHOWN and a fair price quoted for a treatment which is guaranteed for TEN YEARS.
Many irresponsible amateurs self styled "exterminators" and "part time" entomologists offer fantastic "guarantees" and bargain prices, but you owe it to yourself to be SURE you are securing the services of a thoroughly reliable and FINANCIALLY RESPONSIBLE company whose guarantee really has a meaning.
An effective termite treatment must not only eliminate the termites now present in the structure, but also prevent the countless thousands of others, who live in the GROUND outside the house, from returning. The almost unbelievable cunning of the termite makes the successful treatment of your property a job for those who have the proper equipment and the KNOW HOW. Further, because of the termites tenacity and persistence it is sometimes impossible to completely exterminate them with ONE treatment. Therefore it is vital that the company doing the job be AVAILABLE later to return, if necessary; unless you are SURE of this fact you may find yourself with a "guarantee" but no one STILL IN BUSINESS to MAKE GOOD.
Always remember—a guarantee is only as good as the man who gives it.
We are local representatives of a reputable and FINANCIAL RESPONSIBLE company who are ACCREDITED MEMBERS OF THE OHIO PEST CONTROL ASSOCIATION.

Joint Position Created Here By Councilmen

Draftsman, Sewage
Plant Superintendent
Jobs are Combined

Several ordinances were adopted at the Wednesday night session of city council and one of these affirmed action of City Manager W. W. Hill, in naming Harold M. Finley superintendent of the sewage disposal system and city draftsman.

Another ordinance fixed Finley's salary at $250 per month, of which amount $225 comes from the Sewage Disposal Revenue Fund and $25 from the general fund.

The first ordinance created the combined position of sewage disposal superintendent and draftsman. Another ordinance abolished the old position of sewage disposal superintendent, under civil service classification, a position created by council on May 22, 1943.

Still another ordinance appropriated $100 from the general fund to pay Finley's salary for the first 12 days in April.

A final ordinance which was passed authorized City Manager Hill to enter into a contract with Ralph Penn for providing fire protection to Penn's property, located in Wayne and Union Townships.

Inasmuch as most of his land is in Union Township such arrangements were made. No charge is made for the protection. Similar action had been taken in two or three other instances of a similar nature.

Council then adjourned for a general discussion of rural fire protection.

Mrs. Elsie Hussey Called by Death

Mrs. Elsie Haughey Hussey, 46, died Wednesday at 9:15 A. M. at her residence in Dayton, 35 East McPherson Street.

Although she had been ill for the past three weeks, Mrs. Hussey died suddenly.

Born in Fayette County and raised in Bowersville, Mrs. Hussey has lived in Dayton for the last 10 years.

She was a member of the Main Street Methodist Church in Bowersville.

Surviving besides her husband, Christopher, who lives at home, are the following: her father, Daniel A. Haughey, Bowersville; one sister, Mrs. Warren Henderson, Bowersville and three brothers, Virgil A., Morrow, and Eugene, Cincinnati.

Funeral services are arranged for Sunday at 2 P. M. at the Bowersville Main Street Methodist Church.

Burial will be in the Bowersville Woodlawn Cemetery under the direction of the Littleton Funeral Home, Sabina.

Friends may call at the funeral home any time until noon Sunday.

CHECK SUSPECT HELD
JAMESTOWN—Floyd Newman, wanted in connection with a worthless check for $2,000 given the Gibbs Hardware Co. in Jamestown for a tractor purchased from town and said to be wanted at other points for bad checks, has been apprehended by federal authorities at Chesapeake.

County Courts

MOTION IS DENIED

In the case of the State of Ohio against Arthur Rodman Scott, a motion filed by the defendant to revise the court order suspending his right to drive a motor vehicle was overruled by Judge H. M. Rankin after evidence was taken and arguments heard.

Clark Wickensimer represented the state and Reed M. Winegardner the defendant.

Scott's license was suspended following his apprehension after a wild chase in which state highway patrolmen reached a speed of 80 miles per hour in endeavoring to overtake the speeding car, officers said.

DIVORCE GRANTED

Geraldine Bowsher has been granted a divorce from John Bowsher on grounds of gross neglect of duty. The defendant did not contest the case.

Custody of their minor child was awarded temporarily to the defendant, and when the plaintiff establishes a home for the child, she is to have exclusive custody of it, and the defendant is to pay $5 weekly for its support.

JUDGMENT TAKEN

Donald Dennen has taken judgment for $130 against Elmer LeRoy Hudgel, based on a note for that amount, payable in six months and bearing the date of Oct. 11, 1949. The note was made to the First National Bank and the plaintiff was co-maker of the note. Charles S. Hire represents the plaintiff.

TAKES JUDGMENT

In common pleas court, Eugene D. Rice has taken judgment against L. E. Williams for $699.69, based on a cognovit note for that amount, dated Nov. 22, 1949, and payable in two monthly installments in successive months, the first payment to have been made Dec. 22, 1949. Clark Wickensimer represents the plaintiff.

AFFIDAVIT FILED

Warren Gale Marine has filed an affidavit in lieu of a schedule of claims in the estate of Charles E. Marine, which was approved by the probate court.

SALE CONFIRMED

The probate court has confirmed the sale of property in the estate of Jesse S. Carr, to Noah and Ella C. Carr, for $5100. Distribution of proceeds ordered.

SETTLEMENT APPROVED

The probate court has approved settlement of a claim of $1,000 for personal injuries to Clinton Mose Gilmore, of whom Helen Gilmore is the guardian. Payment was made by Leonard P. May, to the guardian.

Charter Night In South Solon

Approximately 200
Expected Friday

Sponsored by the Jefferson-Lions Club, the South Solon Lions Club will receive its charter at a special charter night banquet and meeting, to be held in that community Friday.

Approximately 200 Lions members and guests from surrounding clubs including more than 30 from the Jeffersonville club, will be on hand for the big affair.

Lawrence Lotz, district governor from Piqua, will present the charter to the club through its president, Rev. H. E. Robinson. Clarence Stuckey, deputy district governor from Jeffersonville, will present lapel buttons to each of the 28 charter members.

Rev. Clarence P. Miller, pastor of the Jeffersonville Methodist Church, will deliver the main address.

Dr. Boyd Maurer, zone chairman from Springfield, will call the meeting to order. Rev. J. N. Strickland, pastor of the Milledgeville Methodist Church, will deliver the invocation.

Robert Moorman, zone chairman of region two, will serve as toastmaster for the evening.

George Combs, president of the Jeffersonville Lions Club, will extend the greetings of the sponsoring club.

Marvin Dement of Jeffersonville will present a musical specialty.

Last Rites Read For H. C. Boyer

Funeral services for H. C. Boyer were held at 2 P. M. Wednesday at the Staunton Methodist Church, with Rev. John Myers, former pastor of the church, in charge.

Rev. Guy Tucker, present pastor of the church, read the scripture, a poem and offered prayer. Rev. Myers delivered the sermon and offered prayer.

The church choir sang the three hymns, "Onward Christian Soldiers," "When The Roll Is Called Up Yonder," and "In The Sweet By and By."

Mrs. Florence Garnet played the processional and recessional. The pallbearers were Herbert Wells, Walter Miller, Cicero Chamberlain, Marion Smith, Edwin Boyer and Harold Albaugh. Burial was made in the family lot of the Washington Cemetery.

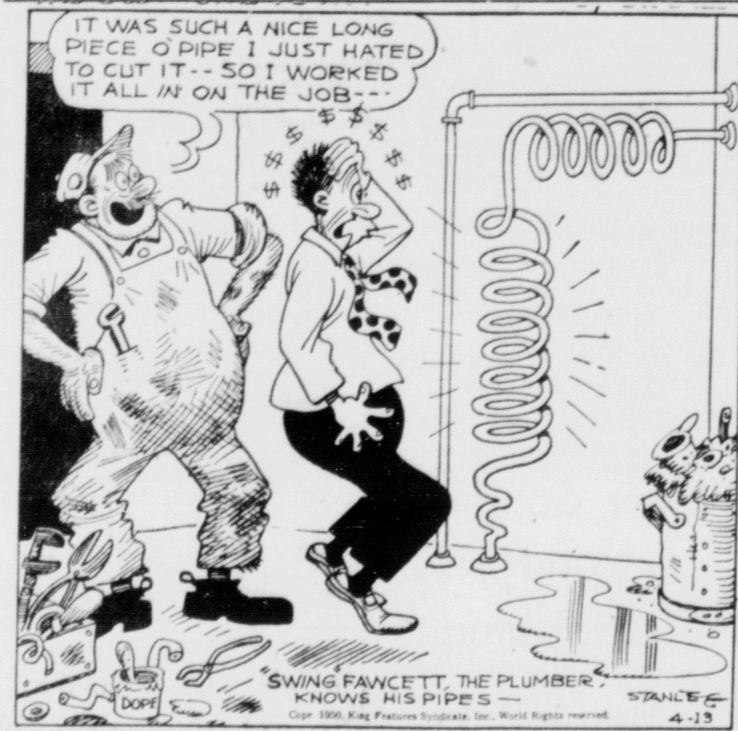

PAY AS YOU ENTER

IRONTON—Due to many bills piling up, all patients except in emergency cases, must pay in advance when they enter the Lawrence County General Hospital.

give me and he says I cannot come home unless I marry his friend," the girl told Stewart.

Mireya said she was fearful her father may force her to return and she implored reporters to keep the name out of her home town of the newspapers.

Stewart suggested she enter the University of Tulsa, although although already a college graduate, in order to obtain a student's visa for the duration of enrollment.

The immigration officer cautioned against a marriage of convenience so she could stay in the United States.

"Oh, no!" Mireya shook her head. "I would only marry for love. A marriage of convenience is what I am trying to escape."

Fire Destroys House

their fire districts and they declined to respond to the calls.

Help Summoned

A call to the Morgan Hardware Store in Good Hope, however, brought out nearly 80 townsmen and farmers.

With small buckets, a toy-sized axe, a small ladder and iron poles, the hard-working volunteer firefighters struggled for several hours in the below-freezing temperature to save two rooms for their neighbor.

At one point they nearly succeeded in snuffing out the blaze while it was still localized around the chimney. Sparks from a stove fire probably started the blaze, the volunteers agreed.

Several of the volunteers said that there was no question that the whole house could have been saved if a fire truck had come.

Using a water pump right next to the house, the firemen formed a bucket brigade up to the roof on the leeward side of the blaze.

The wind gradually spread the fire into the other front rooms of the house, however, before the trickle of water could do any good.

Fight to Save House

By 8:30 P. M. flames were leaping 50 feet into the sky over the house. Fortunately, the wind was blowing toward the front of the house, which enabled the fire fighters to work from the back to save the kitchen and bedroom.

After the front room walls were gutted by the flames, the firemen pushed them down and tossed water on the bedroom and kitchen walls.

After that, they just waited for the blaze to die down and continued to pour water on the embers.

As Gregg stood watching the flames destroy his home, he calmly told Record-Herald reporters that he had been living there for the last 10 years, after retiring as a government chemist and patent lawyer.

Gregg got all his possessions safely out of the house which he said was not insured. He will move back into the two remaining rooms after they are fixed up, it was indicated.

By coincidence, the rural fire protection committee was meeting with the city council of Washington C. H. during the time that the hard-working but pitifully equipped firemen were struggling with the blaze.

EMPLOYMENT RISES

HILLSBORO—Unemployment in Highland County is 139 less than the number a year ago.

32 Interments Are Made Here So Far in '50

During the first three months of 1950, there were 32 interments made in the Washington C. H. Cemetery. This figure is somewhat lower than the average for a three-month period.

This was disclosed in the quarterly report of Superintendent Wert Baughn, which was presented at a joint meeting of the Union Township Trustees and City Council Wednesday night, preceding the regular council session.

The report of Supt. Baughn showed the following receipts and expenditures during the three months:

Received—Sale lots, etc., $1034; int. and linings, $1061; tent, $100; stone and permacrete vaults, $200; bond coupons, $15.63; trust fund income, $74.49 and sales tax $6.

The total was $2491.12. The balance January 1 was $1102.32 and the sub total, $3593.44.

Expenses—Salary and labor, $1594.80; office supplies, $38.90; Ohio Water Service, water, $9.90; Ohio Bell Telephone Service, $10.90; Dayton Power and Light Service, $33.96; internal revenue, withholding tax, $82.40; cemetery supplies, $62.54 and miscellaneous, $20.

The total was $1852.80 and the balance April 1 was $1740.64.

spending them slowly.

National income rose to an annual rate of $220,300,000,000, and these further quarterly figures were on the encouraging side.

Profits — corporation earnings reached an annual rate of $30,500,000,000 or about a billion better than in the best quarter of 1949.

Stocks — stock exchange prices were found to be "higher than at any time since the 1946 peak."

Industrial output — the federal reserve index went to 184 in March, even though the coal strike lasted through the first 12 days. This wiped out February's drop to 180 and just topped all records in January and February, with 80,000 new homes started in each month. March, it was indicated, continued the record pace.

On the other side of the picture was farm income. In February it was down 10 per cent from a year ago. Prices received by farmers were up slightly in February and March, however, from the levels of December and January.

Ambitious Beginners Discuss 4-H Projects

Flower seeds and projects for the year were discussed at the Wednesday night meeting of the Ambitious Beginners 4-H club, held at the home of Miss Donna Cyrus.

There were 10 members present and six absent. Games were played and refreshments served. The next meeting will be held at 4 P. M. Tuesday, April 25.

Receiving Bids on Parcel Post Truck

Postmaster W. E. Passmore Thursday called attention to the fact that bids will be opened at the Washington C. H. Post Office April 24, at 4 P. M., for furnishing suitable equipment for the delivery of parcel post in the city of Washington C. H.

Blanks for submitting bids are available at the post office here.

"IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD"

Wintery Blast Hits County

Residents of Fayette County got a taste of a spell of delayed winter Wednesday night, when a wind swept a chilling snow storm into this area. Snow was still falling Thursday morning.

The temperature, skidding to 20 degrees, brought with it a threat to some of the newly seeded clover. W. W. Montgomery, county agent, said two farmers had been in his office asking about the effect of the freeze on their clover.

Montgomery said it is doubtful if the freeze did any damage to fruit trees since the inclement weather this spring has not brought buds out on many of the trees.

The snowfall stayed on all night. And the temperature left pools of water frozen. This kind of weather at this time of the year is regarded as highly unusual.
